

Ask Public Inquiry In Hospital Case

Premier Johnson, Health Minister
Order Probe In Vancouver Incident

Charges in Vancouver that a pregnant woman in need of emergency treatment was refused admittance to hospital are to be investigated under the Public Inquiries Act.

Premier Byron Johnson and Health Minister Douglas Turnbull said in a joint announcement today that in view of the seriousness of the case as reported, it was felt a full inquiry should be made.

It was charged in a Vancouver newspaper last week that 18-year-old Mrs. Donald Ritchie lost her unborn child because hospitals were unable to give her a bed.

Combat Reds On And Off Battlefield

Alexander Sees
Korea-Bound Men

FORT LEWIS, Wash. (CP)—Combatting communism on the battlefield is not enough. Canada's Governor-General yesterday told Canadian troops ready to go into action under the banner of the United Nations.

Viscount Alexander, in uniform and speaking as soldier to soldier, addressed the battle-ready 25th Brigade on the giant parade square of this American training base.

"Always remember that this struggle in Korea is against Communism," the famous British field marshal said.

"The fight will not be only in the front line... but it will go on all the time from the moment you leave these shores until you return."

The 25th Brigade, core of Canada's special force enlisted to fight aggression in Korea or elsewhere, is scheduled to sail shortly for the war zone.

The Governor-General added:

SUCCESS ASSURED

"That you will gain success on the battlefield is assured and of that I have no doubts, but your success on the field of battle can be nullified unless your conduct and bearing at all times is such that it brings respect and admiration for your country, western democracy and the United Nations, under whose banner you will serve."

An estimated 15,000 persons watched while Lord Alexander reviewed the 5,000 to 6,000 troops, keen for action after months of training.

Five In Family Slain; Farmer Faces Charge

GRAYSVILLE, Man. (CP)—A mother, father, and three of 10 grown children died by rifle bullets—Saturday—and R.C.M.P. today charged a son with their slaying.

In a tragedy whose type R.C.M.P. said they could not recall being equalled in Manitoba, the five apparently were stalked and shot separately, the mother last to be killed as she crouched in the bedroom of the farm home.

Charged is John Henry Schmidt, 31, who police say ran amok with a .30-calibre rifle just before the group was to leave for a birthday celebration at Carman, Man., 12 miles east of this agricultural village about 50 miles southwest of Winnipeg.

Dead are: Henry Schmidt, 71, head of the German-descent family; Sarah Schmidt, 68, his wife; Mary, 46, Olga, 35, and David, 38, all unmarried.

Police said Sunday night they had no motive yet for the shooting. A coroner's jury viewed the bodies and the inquest then adjourned, presumably to be resumed later this week.

John Henry Schmidt appeared briefly in Provincial Police Court in Winnipeg today and was remanded for a week. A charge that he murdered his brother David was read.

Neighbors could add little to the story pieced together from police and undertaker reports. None heard the shots.

LEGISLATURE MAY GET LABOR PETITION TONIGHT

Organized labor's petition demanding withdrawal of increased hospital insurance and co-insurance charges or resignation of the government is expected to be presented to the Legislature tonight.

It was learned from reliable quarters that Opposition Leader Winch will present the petition at a sitting to start at 8.30.

It is understood the petition has approximately 200,000 signatures.

It calls on the government to pay hospital insurance deficits from consolidated revenue, return to $24 and $33 premiums, or go to the people on the question.

U.N. TROOPS GAIN NORTH KOREA TOWN

Nootka Shells Enemy-Occupied Village, Doing
Heavy Damage; U.S. Jets Chase Reds Back

TOKYO (AP)—Allied troops smashed today into Yachon, nine miles deep in Communist Korea, and hammered out limited gains along the rest of the 150-mile North-Korean battle line.

Communist resistance ranged from light to bitter. Yachon is three miles northeast of Yanggu, the Red supply base captured Sunday on the east-central front.

About 50 North Koreans fled from Yachon before the attack. Then they stopped and, threw mortar fire back into the town. Farther east, South Korean troops occupied a high ridge north of Inje.

The Canadian destroyer Nootka shelled an enemy-occupied village and caused heavy damage in the west coast bombardment. The village was near Changsan point southwest of Chinnampo.

In the air war, F-86 Sabre jets twice tangled with Russian-type MIG-15s Monday afternoon. In the first air battle 16 F-86s mixed with 30 MIGs. American pilots reported, 18 Sabre jets clashed with more than 15 MIGs and chased them back across the Yalu River. The Communist planes escaped damage.

(Reuters news agency reported that Lt.-Lt. Stephen W. Daniel of the R.A.F. took part in the air battle, flying with the U.S. Fourth Sabre Jet Wing.)

Monday's score brought to 150 the number of Communist jets destroyed or damaged in air battles since Nov. 1 when MIGs first appeared in Korean skies.

In all, U.S. tactical planes flew 684 sorties by 6 p.m. Monday.

American and Turkish soldiers made the day's best gains on the ground as the United Nations maintained the initiative across the Korean peninsula.

The House of Representatives agreed unanimously today to a joint meeting with the Senate on Thursday to hear Gen. MacArthur, deposed Far Eastern commander.

Senator Homer Ferguson (Rep., Mich.) said that after Congress hears from MacArthur it ought to set up a committee for an investigation of Far Eastern policies.

MacArthur, meanwhile, was in Honolulu today, en route to a reception-studded welcome in San Francisco.

He left Japan amid a great tribute from the Japanese people he ruled and Allied forces he commanded. Shortly after, Lt.-Gen. Matthew Ridgway took over MacArthur's old office.

When he faces the joint meeting Thursday, MacArthur is expected to tell his ideas—"in general," as he put it—about how to defeat communism in Asia.

Senate Republicans today

MacArthur's old office.

When he faces the joint meeting

Thursday, MacArthur is expected to tell his ideas—"in general,"

as he put it—about how to defeat communism in Asia.

Five hours after MacArthur left Tokyo he had a dramatic plane-to-plane discussion of the proposed Japanese peace treaty with John Foster Dulles, special State Department adviser.

Dulles was flying to Tokyo to reassure the Japanese people that MacArthur's departure would not affect the proposed pact.

Nearly 1,000,000 Japanese paid tribute their own way, with reverent silence and polite bows, during the general's 12-mile motor trip to Hamada airport.

When he set foot on U.S. soil for the first time in 14 years at Honolulu's Hickam Field today, the general was grim-faced, in spite of a cheering crowd of service personnel on hand to greet him.

After 24 hours in Hawaii the General will leave for the mainland where his homecoming will be heralded by big and noisy welcome tributes in many communities across the United States.

Most observances are timed to coincide with his arrival in San Francisco, now expected late Tuesday.

VICTORIA FIRE DEPT. CANCELS BURNING PERMITS

Victoria Fire Department today cancelled all rubbish burning permits until further notice in view of the great fire hazard now existing in the area.

The city today entered its 31st consecutive day without appreciable rain.

In Oak Bay permits will continue to be given verbally on a day-to-day basis until the end of May. Saanich will allow burning until May 1, and in Esquimalt location and circumstances will decide the issuance of permits.

Brush Outbreaks May Move Up Fire Season

B.C. Forest Service officials today considered advancing the fire season to "any day now" rather than wait until May 1, in the wake of serious week-end brush fires on Vancouver Island and on the mainland.

The month-long dry spell was blamed for an outbreak of blazes in the Saanich and Sooke areas, and at Paldi, Hillbank and Shawigan Lake.

Forestry officials reported one soldier, Gnr. Patrick Steele, a member of a force of about 80, suffered severe leg injuries late Saturday fighting the biggest fire west of Prospect Lake, Saanich. The soldiers were called out from Work Point Barracks to assist Saanich firemen.

All the fires were under control early today, it was announced, with little damage to timber. Slash areas were burned over, for the most part.

Relative humidity Sunday in the city was 24, and it may go higher this afternoon. Humidity at Cowichan Lake at times has dropped to eight, it was reported. Loggers generally stop work when the humidity falls below 32.

According to Saanich Fire Chief Joseph Law there was no material damage in the Prospect Lake fire, which burned over old slash but did not affect merchantable timber. Four auxiliary pumps and a bulldozer backed up the hand-work done by soldiers.

Forest Service officials on the island said today that residents are now aware of the dangerous situation, and are not starting new fires.

A three-week drought in the Fraser Valley has caused mainland forest service officials to urge extreme caution, and in Vancouver all fire permits have been cancelled until further notice.

Farm buildings in the Abbotsford-Chilliwack-Surrey area were menaced over the week-end when fire jumped control points Saturday.

Accident In Saanich Late Sunday Night

A young Gordon Head soldier was killed and four other persons were injured, none seriously, in 11 week-end traffic mishaps in the Greater Victoria area as the mercury hit a 1951 high of 69 and sent heavy traffic over lower island roads, to recreation spots.

The dead soldier is Gnr. Leon Bruno Aubry, 23, of Three Rivers, Que., attached to the 129 Heavy Anti-Aircraft Battery.

He was killed almost instantly when he was struck by a car on Sinclair Road, between Cadboro Bay and Finnelly Roads, at 10.40 Sunday night while walking with two other soldiers.

Saanich police listed the driver as Peter Thompson, San Juan Avenue. Thompson's car was traveling in the same westerly direction as the soldiers.

It was first traffic death of the year for the southern Vancouver Island area.

Police called Dr. E. L. McEwen, who pronounced the soldier dead. Inquest will be held at 10 Wednesday morning at Chaplin's Funeral Parlors, Dr. E. C. Hart, coroner, presiding.

Imperial Ups Gas Prices In Nine Provinces

TORONTO (CP)—Imperial Oil Ltd. today announced that the wholesale price of gasoline is being increased by three-tenths of a cent a gallon and the wholesale price of diesel fuels by two-tenths of a cent.

The announcement states that the increase is due to the increase from 8 to 10 per cent in the sales tax announced in the recent federal budget.

There will be no increase in kerosene or heating oils, which are not subject to the federal sales tax.

The increase applies across Canada, except in British Columbia, where the situation still is under review.

Canuck Has Dim View Of Crutch Stealer

VANCOUVER (CP)—Cpl. Dave Turner of Calgary, wounded during a Korean battle, doesn't think much of the Japanese.

"One of them stole my crutch," he said as he hobbled from a plane here Sunday night after a flight from Tokyo.

He blamed the theft on the Japanese driver of an army truck that took him to Tokyo to board the home-bound plane.

Turner returned with five other battle casualties.

ONE WOMAN'S DAY

By NANCY HODGES

GRAVE AND GAY

A READER OF this column who has on more than one occasion contributed quaint epitaphs for my collection sent me a note a day or so ago expressing the hope that I was "bearing up under the trials and tribulations" of public life and enclosing, for my edification, a couple of amusing tombstone inscriptions he had picked up while in England recently. One, from a Gloucester churchyard, reads:

"Here lies old MR. RICHARD TULLY,
Who lived a hundred and three years fully;
He did the sword of the City bear,
For many years before the Mayor.
Nine of his wives by him he did
And so shall the tenth when she does die."

MUCH-MARRIED

THE SECOND epitaph also perpetuates the memory of a man who, despite being married eight times, lived to a ripe old age. His epitaph makes a pun upon his name:

"Beneath this stone in sound repose
Lies William Rich of Lydard Close.
Eight wives he had, yet none survive
And likewise children eight times five,
From whom an issue vast did pour
Of great-grandchildren five times four.
Rich born, Rich bred, but fate adverse,
He lived and died immensely poor.
July the 10th, aged ninety-four."

Puns were once a common form of wit upon English tombstones, as several of those I have in my own collection testify. Take this odd and ancient inscription from the tomb of Richard Button in a churchyard near Salisbury:

"O Sun, Moon, Stars and ye Celestial Poles,
Are graves then divided into Button-Holes!"

MISERLY MAN

IN ELIZABETHAN days it was not always customary to eulogize the departed on their tombstones. In fact, it seems to have been quite usual to follow out the Shakespearean idea about "the evil that men do lives after them; the good is oft interred with their bones." An ancient tomb in Dorchester Abbey carried this inscription about its miserly inmate:

"Here lies one who for medicine would not give
A little gold; and so his life he lost;
I fancy that he'd wish again to live
Did he but know how much his funeral cost."

Hardly complimentary to the lady, either, is this epitaph on a shrew, taken from a Leicestershire tomb of the late 1700's; and probably contributed by her husband:

"Beneath this stone and not above it
Lie the remains of Anna Lovett;
Be pleased, good reader, not to shove it
Lest she should come again above it.
For, twixt you and I, no one does covet
To see again this Anna Lovett."

DENUCIATORY

IN THE Church of All Hallows, at Staining, there used to be an ancient memorial tablet—I don't know if it is still there—which had the following devastating, denunciatory inscription to a man named Colman who died somewhere about 1670:

"If Heav'n be pleased, when Sinners cease to sin,
If Hell be pleased, when Souls are damned therein;
If Earth be pleased, when it's rid of a Knave,
Then all are pleased, for Colman's in his Grave."

The next is a gem, true and unpolished:
"Stop, reader, I left the world
In which there was the world to do;
Pretending and stowing to be rich—
Just such a fool as you."

A LADY LAUDED

FROM THAT we turn to the other extreme. At Hambleton, Bucks, the tomb of Lady Cope D'Oyley, who died in 1633 and lies beside her husband, bears this titbit of posthumous adulation:

"Wouldst thou, Reader, draw to life
The perfect copy of a wife?
Read on; and then redeem from shame
That lost but honourable name.
This was once in spirit a Jael,
Rebecca in grace, in heart an Abigail,
In works a Dorcas, to the church a Hannah,
And to her spouse, dear Susanna;
Prudently simple, providently wary,
To the world a Martha, to Heaven a Mary."

Sportsmen will be amused by this final tribute to a jockey, to be seen on an old gravestone at Newmarket, the home of British racing:

"Beneath this green sod, in this sport-loving place,
A jockey lies snug, who has run a good race;
Till his wind being gone and by death being cross't,
At last he's come in the wrong side of the post."

Wed In Australia

A Victoria sailor serving aboard the Canadian cruiser Ontario in Australia has let the good will mission blossom into full-bloom.

AB. William G. Hutcheson, 20, was married Friday to Iris Holland, also 20, at the port of Sydney.

Hutcheson met his bride at a dance a week ago. Within 24 hours of their meeting, they applied for a marriage license.

Arnott Installed As President Of Chamber

E. W. Arnott, B.C. Electric vice-president, and T. R. Denny, were installed today as president and vice-president, respectively, of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce. The ceremony, at which Mayor George officiated, took place during the chamber's annual meeting in the Empress Hotel.

Retiring president Fred W. Hawes paid tribute to the work of various groups during 1950. Describing them as the main-spring of the chamber, he noted that civic affairs and freight rate groups had been added during the year.

Secretary George I. Warren announced the membership of the Chamber had risen from 525 to 549 during the year. Reports were also submitted by W. C.

Mearns, chairman Industrial Bureau; G. I. Edgelow, Tourist Trade Group; B. W. Murdoch, Civic Affairs Group; G. A. A. Hebden, Retail Merchants; G. Paulin, Harbor Development Group; John Watson, Automobile Dealers Association; J. A. Pollard, Building Industries Exchange.

The accounts showed income at $20,340, including a grant of $1,500 to the Industrial Group from the City of Victoria. Expenditure was $20,279, leaving a credit balance of $1,790.

Fellowship For Island Writer

George Woodcock, listed as being a Vancouver Island writer, is among nine Canadians awarded 1951-52 fellowships from the John Simon Guggenheim Memorial Foundation. The fellowships are granted to assist scholars and artists to carry on research in all fields of knowledge and artistic creation in all the arts.

(Victoria library sources said they have no information on George Woodcock.)

Mr. Woodcock was awarded a fellowship for his project: "Studies of the life and times of Pierre-Joseph Proudhon." The writer is the author of eight books, among them, "The Paradox of Oscar Wilde," and "The Anarchist Prince," a biography of Peter Kropotkin.

COMPASS STOLEN

Marguis Forrester, 327 Quebec, reported to city police during the week-end that a compass worth $50 was stolen from his boat moored at Fisherman's Wharf, Erie Street, Harry Francis, 212 Raynor, reported a hunting knife was stolen from his boat Four Winds, moored at the same wharf.

TO PROBE MORALS and ethics in Washington, D.C., will be Senator Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill.), head of Senate subcommittee. Hearings, senator hopes, will put end to "government at cocktail bars" and replace "diseased tissue" uncovered by R.F.C. and crime probes with "healthy, growing tissue."

Urges U.S. Create Korea Death Belt

Congressman Asks Truman To Order Use Of 'Cataclysmic' Atom Weapons

WASHINGTON (AP) — Representative Albert Gore (Dem., Tenn.) indicated today that the United States has perfected "cataclysmic" new atomic weapons to spread deadly radioactivity. He urged President Truman to order their use in Korea.

Gore said the United States should use some of "these immense weapons" to "dehumanize" a belt across Korea—making it unfit for all life and thus a barrier to all military ground operations.

Gore has access to information about atomic developments as a member of the appropriations sub-committee of the House of Representatives which handles funds for the atomic energy commission.

He made public a letter in which he told Truman: "Something cataclysmic, it seems to me, is called for. We have it."

"Please consider using it." While the A.E.C. and military authorities are known to have been working on weapons which, without an atomic bomb blast, would spread radioactivity, Gore's statement was the first word from an official source that they are ready for use.

Gore offered two suggestions: 1. Remove all Koreans from a belt across the Korean Peninsula and then dehumanize it by surface radiological contamination; and

2. Make available and ready a variety of atomic bombs and other weapons to repulse a submarine attack on American naval forces or any attempt to invade Japan.

"I have heretofore publicly, and in the privacy of committee councils," he wrote, "expressed opposition to the use of atomic weapons and related weapons in the Korean conflict."

"But now, I believe the calamitous danger which we and the free world face requires some such forthright policy."

It would be possible, Gore wrote Truman, for the death belt to be recontaminated periodically "until such time as a satisfactory solution to the whole Korean problem shall have been reached."

BRITONS SEE HOPE OF MEAT

LONDON (AP) — Food Minister Webb predicted today a seasonal increase in home meat production will make it possible to double the British ration in August.

Webb told the House of Commons he is unable to tell how long the larger ration could be granted "until we now the result of current negotiations." This presumably was a reference to talks now going on in Buenos Aires for a new long-term contract to obtain meat from Argentina.

U.S. Stockpiling Atomic Weapons At Record Rate; Planning Speedup

WASHINGTON (UP)—The United States is stockpiling atomic weapons "of all sorts" today at the fastest rate in history. It is keeping these weapons, including "the most up-to-date" kinds, "in a state of constant readiness" for use if war comes. And that isn't all: It is engaged in an expansion program greater than the original $2,200,000,000 atomic project of World War II. At the same time it is operating a going project "considerably greater" than the wartime program.

REMINISCENT OF WAR YEARS

Victorians Witness Thrilling Air Show

"Don't be alarmed if there is unusual activity over Victoria today." This reassuring message snapped out of many radios Sunday. It aroused speculation. Before day was over Victorians, who crowded beaches, churches and fields in unusual numbers for this time of year, were treated to much excitement in the sky. About 11, vapor trails from one or two high-flying jets crisscrossed the sky to the southwest. Later two four-engine Lancasters, at about 1,500 feet, dived over the town. Later a squadron of fast-moving Mustangs moved over. Then came the Harvards, flying in close formation. REAL STUNT SHOW But best of all was the cut-up who gave one of the best stunting exhibitions seen here in many years. Far up in the heavens a yellow Harvard went through loops, rolls, Immelman turns, with the cease of the man on the flying trapeze. Then as evening fell, a North Star, purring under the power of its four Rolls-Royce engines, passed overhead at 5,000 feet. It looked like one of the airlift boys coming in from Japan and beginning to let down for the landing at McChord Field in Washington. Thousands of motorists who drove along Finnerty Road and other roads in the Gordon Head district were amazed to see such a vast amount of anti-aircraft equipment sprawled over the large area of the Gordon Head Camp. There were large and small anti-aircraft weapons, radar vehicles, range-finders and much other equipment. Most of it newly-arrived radar equipment for Victoria's new A.C. and W. At the gate marched a tall, erect, sunburnt young Canadian sentry. It was all reminiscent of 1939-1945. But it was not disturbing to those who had lived here in those days. It reminded them of the nights when the town was blacked out and motor cars made their way along with slits in their headlights, when the 9.2 guns and the anti-aircraft weapons were pounding away most of the day; of visiting ships, including the mammoth Queen Elizabeth and the Rajputan; of false air raid alarms; of the nearness of the Japs on Attu and Kiska, and of the fine feeling that you had good neighbors.

Thousands Fleeing Mississippi Flood

Homes Abandoned At St. Paul As Drastic Emergency Measures Taken

By UNITED PRESS

The Mississippi River's mighty spring flood crest rolled southward today, imperiling thousands of lowland dwellers in Minnesota, Wisconsin, Iowa and Illinois.

The river's highest crest in 70 years was pouring past St. Paul, Minn., where 1,800 persons abandoned their homes to the lapping waters.

Accidents

Alma Jorgensen, 1749 Asquith Street, suffered a fractured jaw, cuts and bruises to both legs and arms when the car driven by Walter W. C. Jorgensen crashed into a B.C.E. pole on Fernwood near Pandora at 2:20 Sunday morning. The injured woman was taken home and treated by Dr. Vincent Smith. Front end of the car was extensively damaged.

Three-year-old Patsy Davis, 2850 Parkway, was treated at Jubilee Hospital for bruise burns to the face and hand lacerations. City police said the girl ran out in front of a car driven by Jack E. Matheson, 3068 Orillia, Saturday night on Skinner.

Thomas W. Walker, 65 of 536 View Royal, a pedestrian, sustained numerous bruises when he was in collision with a car driven by Russell Moyer, 37 Gorge, in the 400 block of Grainger Saturday night. Police said Walker was crossing the street from behind a parked truck. He was treated at Jubilee Hospital.

Ross Bryant, 6, of 927 Johnson Street, suffered an ankle injury when he ran into a truck driven by John N. Curtis, 1739 Adanac, Saturday at Yates and Blanshard Streets.

Police Chief John Blackstock said there were 15 drunks, 79 reports and 10 accidents in the local police tally for the week-end.

Dockers Again Stage Protest

LONDON (Reuters)—A new phase in the battle between the government and dissident elements on Britain's docks seemed set today as 9,000 London dock workers went on strike in protest at the prosecution of seven colleagues charged with leading wildcat strikes.

Indications today were that the present stoppage—seventh since the seven men were first held by the police—would be no one-day token affair as in the past.

Reports from the dock area said the unofficial port workers' committee plans to extend the present stoppage—already holding up 100 ships—for several days.

New Discovery Takes Embarrassment Out Of Life

Some months ago, following the publishing of an article in "Reader's Digest" concerning chlorophyll and how specially processed chlorophyll tablets, when swallowed, completely stop all body and perspiration odor, tablets such as these made their appearance in Canada under the name of Voids.

Voids are sold solely to stop bad breath and body odors. By swallowing one of these tablets every morning you do away with the need of under-arm deodorants, sprays and strong soaps. The great advantage of Voids over other deodorants lies in the fact that you are not merely protected under the arms but over the entire body surface, including feet and scalp.

Voids are absolutely harmless and their effectiveness lasts for 18 hours or more.

A Voids tablet chewed after drinking onions, garlic or "spicy" foods neutralizes the breath in 3 seconds. They're sold at all drug and cosmetic counters. 36 tablet pocket size, 25c; 36 tablet monthly supply, $1.25.

Charge Man With Murder In Stabbing

DUNDAS, Ont. (CP)—Lloyd Robert Wise, 33, of Golden Lake, Ont., was charged Sunday with the murder of Lloyd Barber, Killaloe, Ont., taxi driver.

Inspector T. R. Wright of the Ontario Provincial Police said Wise was arrested in a Hamilton beverage room Saturday by three detectives.

Wise's home of Golden Lake is a community in eastern Ontario 12 miles from Killaloe where Barber was found stabbed to death Thursday.

Barber, 51, was stabbed 13 times and left in the bathroom of his home in this Ottawa Valley town.

Meanwhile, police in Niagara Falls recovered Barber's car on a suburban used-car lot Saturday.

Andy Simon, who runs a used-car lot in Niagara Falls, told police he bought the 1950 model blue sedan about noon Friday from a big, red-faced man with loose, black curly hair. He paid $1,700.

Simon said the man drove up to the lot, coolly presented a wallet containing Barber's license and offered the car.

Simon first heard of the slaying when he read a newspaper Saturday. He went to police immediately.

Investigators were told Barber usually carried up to $1,500 in banknotes—which would have been in the stolen wallet. He liked to flash his roll and tell friends how much it contained.

Situation Better; Yanks Quit Iranian Oil Centre

By LEOPOLD HERMAN
TEHRAN, Iran (Reuters)—All Americans in Abadan, strife-torn oil refinery centre in South Iran, were evacuated today.

The 30 Americans were moved at their own request after savage clashes between strikers and police that cost 12 lives.

But there was a noticeable improvement in the strike situation today. Of 14,000 strikers, loading of tankers from storage went on undisturbed.

But the main departments of the refinery, the world's biggest, still were idle.

The partial return to work was possible because, for the first time since trouble began last week, there were no strike pickets outside the gates.

However, an atmosphere of extreme tension persists throughout the country.

Iranian Government quarters here are alarmed at the possibility that Britain might send armed detachments into Abadan to protect the British-owned refinery and the British personnel and their families, three of whom have already lost their lives. No Britons yet have been evacuated.

The British cruiser Gambia and two naval frigates are within a few hours' sailing distance from Abadan in the Persian Gulf ports of Kuwait and Bahrain.

Prime Minister Hussein Ala, who has put the whole of south Iran under martial law, was given a unanimous vote of confidence in the Senate today for his handling of the explosive situation.

Socialism Approves Profits

THOSE WHO IMAGINE THAT THE Canadian Government can quickly and painlessly solve the problem of inflation by fixing prices, without fixing anything else, should be interested in a recent document which says:

"About 60 per cent of the value of the nation's output is the cost of wages and salaries. Change in wages and salaries therefore have a profound effect on prices, unless the higher wages are matched by higher productivity or are met from profits."

"Profits cater for the creation of reserves to pay for expansion and re-equipment, and the additional money manufacturers want to pay dividends to their shareholders. The more money firms put aside to develop new methods of production the more consumers have to pay for goods. But new equipment and better laid-out factories mean more efficient production, lower costs and the possibility of lower prices in the long run. If the money to pay for this were not raised from profits it would have to be raised in some other way."

"A reduction in distributed profits could do little to reduce prices. They are a very small part of the cost of any item so, although there are very many excellent reasons for dividend limitation and profit control, their effectiveness as a means of reducing the cost of living is not one of them. Even if profits were eliminated altogether there would still be a cost of living problem."

In short, the level of wages largely determines the price of goods; profits are necessary to provide money for an increase in production; and even if all profits were abolished prices today would still be high.

And who pronounces these findings? The head of some great corporation, some apologist for Wall Street or some press agent of Big Business? No, the quotations above are taken from an official pamphlet issued by the socialist Labour Party of Britain.

The C.C.F. professes to be the counterpart and Canadian heir of the British Labour Party. It could usefully read the findings of its parent which repudiate in detail just about everything the C.C.F. is saying about inflation, prices and profits in Canada.

The great difference between the Labour Party and the C.C.F. is that the former has been in office and knows from bitter experience how an economic system works, while the latter, having managed nothing, is ready to promise anything.

A Great Fighter Has Gone

WHEN ERNEST BEVIN LAID ASIDE the heavy burden he carried as Britain's Foreign Secretary, to accept the lighter tasks of Lord Privy Seal slightly more than a month ago, it was hoped the relief afforded him might mend his health. At best the hope was slender. His death last Saturday took from the British Government a wealth of sound counsel and a dominating personality.

His burly figure shrunken, the prey of varied illnesses, he died another casualty among those stalwart men who fought oppression in the guises of Nazism and Communism and wherever else he found it. "Ernie" Bevin, Churchill's "Working Class John Bull," Britain's "No. 1 Working Man" and the "Dockers' K.C.," probably served Britain better by ignoring the traditions of diplomacy associated with his post as Foreign Secretary than he could have served by conforming to conventional lines. His was the rough, blunt approach, sometimes offensive, always powerful.

His nature and training—it was survival of the fittest from the time he was a child—gave him a strength that matched and exceeded those opponents of the fibre which brought current day toughness to the business of international affairs. When Bevin spoke for Britain the western world had no doubt of his country's opposition to Russian imperialism. It knew his stand—and the stand of those whom he represented—against Communism.

Biographers will trace his fight to eminence from the beginnings of an eight-year-old orphaned boy—a fight that he carried by sheer strength through the ranks of trades unionism to the molding of his country's policy in world affairs.

He had his weaknesses. He was too easily roused to anger. He was so outspoken that he lost friends. But in him was a hard core of vigor and forthrightness that helped to carry Britain through its times of greatest stress and that won admiration from those who appreciate the job he did for his country and for democracy. A great fighter has gone.

More Study For Teachers' Pensions

WHILE THE PROVINCIAL GOVERNMENT's announcement that it would not reduce its contribution to school teachers' pensions drew the warmest applause in the Legislature last week the additional statement that the Department of Education will assist the teachers in revising their superannuation scheme appears to be of greater long-range significance. The decision to maintain the 7 per cent contribution is of immediate value to the pension fund. It cannot, however, provide a lasting solution for the problem of pensions that are too low. Only revision of the scheme can do that.

Two important features of the existing arrangement deserve particular study. First, the scheme now permits participants to draw retirement allowances after 10 years' service. Second, the disability clauses under which contributors may receive benefits are expensive. It will be up to the teachers to decide whether they wish to keep payments stretched over the wide field covered by the allowance on retirement after 10 years' service, or to require a longer period in employment. The latter course would automatically reduce the number of superannuitants and make higher payments available to those who are entitled to them. Similarly, it will be up to the teachers to decide whether or not they wish to continue their present insurance against disability—a feature of the existing plan which might be met more economically under private insurance policies taken out by the individual teachers themselves.

One point in the decision announced in the Legislature will be generally applauded. It was the statement that a further and fuller investigation of the entire question would be undertaken before amendments were brought in. On that understanding it will be possible for the teachers to give the question consideration that would have been impossible had the proposal brought before the House been put into effect at this session.

Four Billion Dollars

MR. ABBOTT IS BUDGETING TO spend $3.7 billions in the present fiscal year but in fact he is preparing for a budget of about $4 billions for years to come. By the end of this year, he says, the Federal Government will be spending at the rate of $3.9 billions as the armament program speeds up.

"I am reluctant," he adds, "to believe that we must inevitably face budgets of $4 billion or more for any considerable succession of years." Yet that is precisely what we do face. All Mr. Abbott can say by way of comfort is that "there is still a possibility that reasonable solutions of the present international tensions may be developed. In another year's time we should have a clearer view of the prospects."

The prospects, however, may grow worse, not better, and the budget, now aimed at about $4 billions, would have to be increased again. Mr. Abbott stresses that the present figure must be taken as tentative, that if it is raised then he may have to undertake "major changes in the existing tax structure."

In other words, the present tax increases of $600 millions a year are sufficient to carry a four-billion-dollar budget but not sufficient, and not directed in the right direction, to carry a budget much higher.

Four billion dollars is a sum which most people cannot hope to understand. Canadians will understand it better if they remember that it is almost ten times what the Federal Government was spending before the last war. And unless the international climate changes there is no hope of reducing these expenditures substantially. Hence no prospect of tax reductions in the visible future—unless federal, provincial and municipal governments cut down their non-defense spending. Of this there is no sign.

Planning A Scenic Necklace

IT WILL TAKE TIME TO COMPLETE the different links in a transportation chain around Puget Sound, the Strait of Juan de Fuca and the inside waters north to Campbell River. Plans for the creation of this scenic necklace, however, will be applauded by all Victorians who see in it an added inducement to motor tourists who may look forward, a few years hence, to trips that avoid the back-tracking now necessary from Campbell River to Nanaimo.

The proposal suggests an influx of more visitors to Victoria as the projected land and water trip becomes better known to the United States motoring public. The plan shows an imaginative approach to an undertaking of unquestionable appeal. Those responsible for its origination are to be commended on an idea adding much to a road and ferry system that will be, in itself, of substantial domestic value as new sections are provided.

Loose Ends

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

AFTER a week in bed, listening to the radio, one is able to condense all the quiz shows into a single, invariable pattern which anyone is welcome to use in producing a show of his own. Uncopyrighted, the universal script runs as follows:

Announcer: Now, madam, step up to the microphone, and what is your name?
Guest: Urk.
Announcer: And a very lovely name for a very lovely lady.
Now, then, of course you use our lovely Double-catch, Sure-hold, All-aluminum Clothespins?

Guest: U-k.
Announcer: Why, of course. Every lady does. Now just answer this easy question and win a crisp new dollar bill. Who was the first Prime Minister of Canada?

Guest: Urk.
ANNOUNCER: I didn't catch that, quite. Who was the first Prime Minister?
Guest: Mackenzie King?
Announcer: Ah, too bad! You missed by just a hair's breadth. No, I think you will find that it was John A. Macdonald. Never mind, here is a gift of a full half dozen of our Double-catch, Sure-hold, Safety, All-aluminum Clothespins. And now the next guest. What is your name, sir?

GUEST: Jim Burple.
Announcer: You're a seafaring man, Mr. Burple? Yes, ladies and gentlemen, one of Canada's seamen, those dauntless, silent heroes of the Royal Canadian Navy who fight our battles on the briny deep. Tell us, Mr. Burple, how it feels to be under fire and the decks all awash.

Guest: Well, I only been cooking on a tug between Vancouver and Squamish.
Announcer: Ha, ha! These sailormen of the great Silent Service are always too modest. Well, here's a sailor's question: When a Spanish fleet was sailing up the English Channel who played a kind of ball game before the battle?

Guest: Joe DiMaggio?

ANNOUNCER: Oh, too bad, Mr. Burple! A great try! Give our naval hero a big hand, ladies and gentlemen for a great try. No, I think you will find it was Francis Drake. And here are a full half dozen of our incomparable clothespins to remember us by when you are tossing on the briny deep. And now this next lady. What do you do, Madam?

Guest: Nothing.
Announcer: Ha, ha! She says she does nothing! Can you imagine a beautiful lady like this doing nothing? And what does your husband do?

Guest: He's in jail.
Announcer: Uh, er... well, let's hope there will soon be a lovely reunion in this fine Canadian family, and give her a big hand...

Guest: I hope he never comes back.
Announcer: Quite so, now then, what do you think of our all-aluminum clothespins?

Guest: Never heard of 'em.
Announcer: Hear that? Ha, ha! Says she never heard of them. Women will have their little joke. Why, she's witty as she's pretty.

Guest: Never heard of 'em.
ANNOUNCER: Why, you just slay me, madam. Give her a great big hand. But joking aside, what Canadian statesman said, "A British subject I was born, a British subject I will die?"

Guest: Never heard of him. Duplex, maybe?
Announcer: Oh so close, and yet not exactly right. I think you will find it was that same John A. Macdonald. Funny how he keeps coming into our program, and there was a wise man, good old Sir John A., who would have appreciated our Sure-hold Safety Clothespins, and here are half a dozen of them, madam, to remind you of your great Canadian heritage. And now this gentleman, step up to the mike, sir! Who was Louis Riel?

GUEST: A French name, sounds like.
Announcer: You're right! You're getting hot! Give him a great big hand! Now then, who was Louis Riel, with the French name?

Guest: Played for the Canadiens in the Stanley Cup in 1925, didn't he?
Announcer: Oh dear, you were so nearly right, sir, but not quite. No, I think you will find that Riel was hanged as a rebel.

Guest: Those Canadiens always played rough hockey.
Announcer: Ha, ha! Very good, sir; very, very good, and here's a package of our Sure-Hold Clothespins to remind you of the stirring days of Canadian history. Now then, this little lady with a face like the Mona Lisa. I bet you have plenty of admirers, eh?

Guest: Tee, hee. Well, I gotta fella. Tee, hee.
ANNOUNCER: And a big hand for the little lady and her fella! May they soon marry and have many All-Aluminum Clothespins around them in their home. And now, tell me, is an oyster a mollusk or a crustacean?

Guest: I don't like oysters much. Tee, hee. I don't know.

Announcer: Oh, but a good try. Here's a crisp dollar bill for a good try and tell your sweetheart always to use Double-Sure Clothespins for safety in a pinch. In a pinch, that's a good one. Ha, ha! And after this fine display of real Canadian intelligence we close our All-Aluminum Clothespin Hour and next week I'll be with you with some more all-Canadian brain-testing questions that hold our country together like Double-Sure Clothespins for sure National Unity...

The only kind of economical food nowadays is food for thought.

Not So Easily Dismissed

As Our Readers See It

PARKING SPACE

It is time something was done regarding churches monopolizing parking space for block and blocks around them making it impossible for people living in that area to get the normal use of their homes. The Cathedral particularly has a square block of property, some of it vacant, which could be used for parking of cars.

With something going on in connection with the church most any day or night the situation of families living near is annoying.

There are several apartment houses surrounding the Cathedral with upwards of 30 tenants who haven't the privilege or convenience of a front entrance to their home because of cars jammed solid for hours. Visitors have to park far from their destination.

"A CHRISTIAN."

SPIRITUAL AND SECULAR

It is pertinent at this juncture to remind those who call themselves Christians, that the Lord Jesus Himself taught the separation of the spiritual from the secular in a terse sentence: "Render unto Caesar the things which are Caesar's and unto God the things which are God's." The obvious inference is that since a "Christian" body must give to God His due, it must similarly expect from God the necessary help through spiritually like-minded people at the exclusion of secular help.

THEY VOTED 'NO'

On the eleventh of this month the Greater Marpole district in Vancouver voted in respect to the sale of beer by the glass in the business section of Marpole.

According to the news reports the introduction of beer parlors in that district was defeated by a substantial majority.

This is most significant in the light of the forthcoming plebiscite in Sidney. In both cases, modern hotels have been promised in which the beer parlors would be housed. With due respect to the advantage of a new building, Marpole residents voted "No" to a beer parlor.

It is good to know that there are large majorities in other areas besides Victoria who are opposed to the introduction of further beer parlors.

ADDS COMMENDATION

As a regular reader I want to thank you for reprinting the remarks of Mr. H. A. Bullis in Monday's issue under the heading "Taking Over Europe's Role." It is about time such facts were made clear to the American public.

Mr. Bullis says that the U.S. repaid the loans in 50-cent dollars but he forgot to say that a good many of the bonds issued by American railroads as well as other issues all over the world went into default and caused losses to British and other investors.

I think, sir, you too might have mentioned the fact that the growth and prosperity of the U.S.A. was also due in at least some measure to the British navy keeping peace on the seas and the trade routes open.

I also want to thank Bruce Hutchison for his skit on the garden tractor of today and his clearly reasoned articles on the dangers of inflation. Truly, the mantle of Stephen Leacock has fallen on his shoulders.

JOHN R. PENDRAY.

CONTROVERSIAL

In a recent letter Mr. Pepper tells us that Christianity is based on selfishness. There are several reasons for questioning his statement.

First, the basic fact of Christianity is the most unselfish thing that could be imagined. It was for no benefit to Himself that God the Father so loved the world as to give His Son, or that God the Son offered Himself as a sacrifice for the sins of mankind.

Second, one does not usually brand a person as selfish because he or she gives heed to a sign marked "DANGER" and turns for safety to a path marked "THIS WAY." The fundamental message of the Bible is that there is a God and that men are His creatures responsible to Him for their actions. Any one is free to reject the message but they do so at their own risk.

Third, whether Christianity is fundamentally autocratic or democratic is a question capable of arousing much controversy to little apparent purpose. Personally I would be inclined to say that it is both. Autocratic in that it reveals God as the supreme power and authority. Democratic in that it teaches that men ought to love their neighbors as themselves.

Repercussions At Washington

By STEWART ALSOP, from Washington

EITHER President Truman or Gen. MacArthur had to be fired—and a general cannot fire his commander in chief. It is really as simple as that. The fact that MacArthur not only violently opposed the Administration's policy, but continued to say so in an endless stream of pronouncements, made a showdown sooner or later inevitable, as MacArthur himself probably recognized.

The only real surprise is that Truman decided to dismiss MacArthur immediately, rather than take the easier way of waiting for the signing of the Japanese peace treaty.

The reasons he did so are inherent in his character and outlook. For one thing, Truman is extraordinarily sensitive where his powers as President are concerned, perhaps in part because he knows that he became President by sheer happenstance. For another thing, there is Truman's absolutely rigid code, deriving in part from his days as a machine politician, which demands a relationship of unquestioning political loyalty, given and returned, between "the boss" and his subordinates. With Truman cast in the role of boss and MacArthur in the role of subordinate, this relationship was bound sooner or later to break down.

The breaking point came with MacArthur's statement of March 25, which challenged Truman's presidential authority, and with the Martin letter, which in Truman's eyes was the equivalent of trading with the Republican enemy.

NOT ACHESON'S ACTION

From beginning to end, then, the decision was Truman's, and Truman's alone. In the battle of the titans which is now in prospect, this should be borne in mind. Already MacArthur's dismissal is being described as a triumph for Secretary of State Dean Acheson, and for the views which Acheson is supposed to represent. This is inaccurate on both counts. Acheson was of course consulted, but he played no decisive part. He was not even present at the White House meeting on Tuesday afternoon, attended among others by Chairman of the Joint Chiefs Omar Bradley and presidential adviser Averell Harriman, when the President finally decided to act.

Moreover, it is odd but true that after the Chinese intervention in Korea, Acheson was the strongest proponent of precisely the course MacArthur now advocates, including bombing the Chinese mainland and using Nationalist troops. He was only dissuaded when it became clear that this course would wreck the Anglo-American alliance, the keystone of American foreign policy.

In fact, the strongest pressure for dismissing MacArthur came, not from the State Department, but from the Pentagon, Secretary of Defense Marshall, under-secretary Robert Lovett, and all four Joint Chiefs, whose directives MacArthur had consistently disregarded, unanimously favored the move.

But the final decision was Truman's and it is Truman who must now play David to MacArthur's Goliath in the great struggle which will now certainly ensue.

This is written on the day of MacArthur's dismissal, and the future is even less clear than usual. But it is certain that the MacArthur issue will divide Congress on fairly strict party lines. As of this writing, the Democratic strategy is to go along with the Wherry resolution inviting MacArthur to address a joint session, but to arrange a joint meeting of the Senate Foreign Affairs and Armed Services Committees beforehand, at which MacArthur can be asked some very pertinent questions.

REPUBLICAN RALLYING POINT

As for the Republicans, the Taft-Wherry wing of the party clearly sees MacArthur as the ideal rallying point for an all-out attack on Truman and through Truman, on American foreign policy. The results are likely to depend very largely on what actually happens in Korea. For if the American forces suffer a shattering reversal in the expected Communist offensive (as is all too possible, for reasons which will be discussed in a forthcoming report) MacArthur will seem to be triumphantly vindicated.

The demand for the bombing of the Manchurian bases will then become almost irresistible, and Truman, who has resisted this demand, will appear as the architect of disaster. It may be that MacArthur himself has been fully aware of this possibility.

Bombing the Chinese mainland might be the prelude to a third world war. But whatever happens, one thing is clear. The basic issue which has now been posed is whether or not the main American effort, in peace or war, should be diverted from Europe to Asia.

MacArthur himself has repeatedly posed this issue, most recently in his astonishing reported statement that Formosa is more important to the defense of the United States than France. This familiar problem is the real issue, behind all the drama and uproar, and it is as crucial an issue as this country faces. If the United States is not to be left without an ally in the world other than Chiang Kai-shek, it can be decided in only one way.

Saved For Posterity

Winnipeg Free Press

There has been a great deal of talking and writing about flying saucers but it has remained for rural England to deal properly with them. Whether flying saucers are real or imaginary, they are now permanently preserved as the name sign of a pub. To the "Foaming Jug," the "Three Tuns," "Hop and Barleycorn," "The Two Brewers" and "The True Briton" is now added, "The Flying Saucer," which is as it should be.

What is wanted is the best possible citizens to stand as independent candidates.

VICTORIAN SPRING

by Cecil Maiden

Mr. Dukes quickly removed his chin from the chair-back. "That would be very irregular, Miss Caroline. We have our traditions to think of. You see, our play bills say 'Nothing but the world's leading Theatrical Attraction.' I don't imagine Miss Merridew's children would come into that category."

"And are you expecting your partner, Mr. Ambleside, to bring nothing but the world's leading theatrical attractions back with him from San Francisco? Couldn't we both be honest with each other?"

He sighed again.

"For one night?" he asked.

"Yes."

"Can she pay the rent?"

Caroline leaned a little closer to him, her eyes fixed closely on him. "There isn't going to be any rent, Mr. Dukes."

"Mercy! You're not expecting me to give the theatre to Miss Merridew?"

"No. Perhaps, if you'll sit a little closer I wouldn't have to raise my voice. I wouldn't like anyone to overhear us."

He left his chair altogether, and sat on the end of his desk. Her face was immediately below him.

She went on: "I want you to give her a date that you know is already booked—perhaps for one of the troupes with which Mr. Ambleside is making arrangements. I want you to discover your mistake only a day or two before the event—not until the whole town has been talking of her Display. And then I want it to be suddenly cancelled."

"It would ruin the theatre!"

"How could the public blame you if a legitimate theatrical enterprise from San Francisco had first call on the stage that night?"

"She would demand another date later."

"She will have been told that you were donating the theatre. She wouldn't dare suggest that—if you made it clear to her that the theatre was going to be fully booked."

"But why, Miss Caroline...? Why?"

She had been toying with the ribbons of her crimson bonnet. Now she took it off and looked up at him.

"Asking why has wasted so many opportunities, Mr. Dukes."

The theatre's reputation, Miss Merridew, his partner... none of them seemed worth discussing any further. He dropped his head towards her. It might, had he been thinking of her suggestion, have signified his agreement. It was easier, on the other hand, as he discovered, thus to place his mouth over the lips below him... to move his hand... his arm... above the delicate shoulder... the unresisting waist.

He lifted her towards him, pressing into oblivion all his crumbling hesitation.

Swindled Firm Of $308,521, Likely Never Got Penny Of It

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (UP)—Two bookkeepers were in jail today on charges of conspiring to defraud a bank of $308,521.22 over a five-year period during which they lived in comparative poverty.

Their boss said Bernard E. Klock, 37, and Leslie L. Root Jr., 29, had been with the Syracuse Trust Company for 15 and 10 years, respectively. They always were rated as trusted employees, bank president Harry W. Davies said.

But a complaint signed by the Federal Bureau of Investigation said Klock, who lives in a tiny, cold-water apartment with no other luxuries than a television set, made a false entry of $308,521.22 in the books he had kept diligently since 1936. He faced an additional charge of conspiring with Root to manipulate the bank's books, misapply funds and withhold cheques.

Neither the bank president nor F.B.I. agent Robert W. Wall Jr. would say what happened to the money. Davies said he believed his two bookkeepers didn't get a penny of it.

92 YEARS SERVING VICTORIA

Views Of Sport

By RED SMITH

NEW YORK—You could say, if you weren't particular about your facts, that the company at luncheon was composed of artists. That is, there were some guys skilled at making hand-painted pictures, some guys doubly gifted in the art of tying trout flies and hanging them high in the treetops alongside mountain streams, and some guys who make a sort of living writing pieces for the papers. There will be no doubt about which ones did the talking.

Propelled by a high wind, the conversation drifted around to the newspaper dodge in general and the sports writing pitch in particular. There was some talk about the single inviolable rule of the fraternity—the law providing that in the event of a brother being struck by a flying grape and rendered insensible, not even his bitterest enemy is permitted to rest until the victim's work has been done and the copy filed to his paper.

Which, naturally, reminded one of the party of the spring training camp which he covered with the Baron, who was so-called because of his resemblance to a Prussian count. The Baron was a tremendous big guy with a head like an inverted bucket and a Hohenzollern mustache, and his large visage bore marks which could have been Heidelberg saber scars if they hadn't actually been mementoes of a couple of headlong plunges through windshields.

Ordinarily the most companionable of men, the Baron was capable of extended flights of exuberance during which he is inclined to break things. Bones, by preference. At such times his manner was a matchless blend of truculence and condescension.

Thanks Gratefully Received

On this particular training trip he achieved a state of incandescence which endured for about three days, by which time his companion-ink was considering donating the Baron to the foreign missions. By the rules of the lodge, however, it remained necessary that a story be sent out under the Baron's by-line each night, even though the Baron might be around winning a well-earned skull fracture.

One evening after the Baron had been peeled off the bosom of an over-matched barkeep, his colleague spoke as follows:

"Look, you big ape. I know you haven't written your piece. I'll do it for you, on condition that you go to bed now and sleep it off."

"Right-o, m'lud," said the Baron, smoothing his moist mustache. "Trot along and write my piece, that's a good chap."

Boiling at his friend's patronizing manner, cursing himself for a sucker and knowing full well that his end of the bargain would be the only one kept, the guy went off to Western Union and wrote and filed a story. Still seething, he retired. The night was a hollow shell when he was awakened by the Baron kicking his door and switching on the lights.

"Ah, there, sonny boy. Did you write my piece?"

"Yes, you big tramp. You know I did."

Safety In Numbers

"Naturally," said the Baron with grateful humility, "I'll be ashamed of it. I expect you're the first generation of your family could speak English."

And then there was the time a convivial veteran accompanied a football team to South Carolina for the annual game which was then—and may be now—played on a Friday afternoon in Orangeburg as a feature of the Orange County Fair.

It was fairly early in the week, say like Tuesday, when the party took off from home. Inside an hour or so the veteran had got his teeth caught in some glassware, and he was of little practical use thereafter. He made no trouble, however, and since there were a half-dozen other authors along to split up his work, it was no burden on anybody.

On the morning of the game, the wounded one showed up looking surprisingly fit. His colleagues sighed with relief. An hour before kickoff, they merely sighed. Their pal had vanished. Somebody else covered the game for him.

Shertainly—One Game At A Time

Now, this being a Friday, several members of the troupe had considered going up to Durham, N.C., or maybe it was Chapel Hill, to cover a big game scheduled for the following day. It was one of the top contests of the South that year, and the winner figured to go to the Rose Bowl. The bottle-scarred veteran was one of those who had contemplated the double assignment.

After the game in Orangeburg, a searching party found the lost lamb asleep in a hotel room. They roused him with muffins, they roused him with ice, they roused him with mustard and cress, they roused him with jam and judicious advice—

"Hey, Joe," they said. "Get up."

"Where am I?" Joe asked.

"Orangeburg, South Carolina."

"Is a helvety place to be. When's the game start?"

"The game," he was told, "is over. Your story's written. And, by the way, your office asked if you were covering that other game tomorrow and we told 'em no, you couldn't make train connections."

He was an impressive-looking gent, silver-haired and great with dignity. Now he drew himself up in bed on one elbow, stiff with outrage.

"At's right!" he said. "Dammito! One game at a time!"

SCORE ONE-SIDED WINS

Marg Todd, Painter Lift Empress Titles

Mrs. Margaret Todd and Vic Painter are the 1951 Empress golf champions.

Mrs. Todd, former B.C. amateur champion from Victoria Golf Club, won the women's handicap championship and the Sir Edward Beatty Trophy Saturday with an 8 and 6 victory over Mrs. A. C. Patrick of Vancouver.

Painter won the men's title from Dr. Bruce Titus of Portland, 12 and 11, in the scheduled 36-hole final.

Both victories at the Victoria Golf Club, scene of the 21st annual tournament, were one-sided simply because the Victorians over-awed their opponents by their steady play.

Mrs. Todd was five up at the turn in against Mrs. Patrick and won the next three holes to finish out the match.

LEAD TOO GREAT

Painter shot near par golf in taking an 11-up lead over Titus in the morning round. The Colwood ace then took the 22nd and 23rd, lost the 24th and ended the match on the 25th with a par three.

Dr. George E. Bronaugh of Portland presented the prizes in the dining room of the Victoria Golf Club following the tourney.

Dr. Bronaugh was attending his 15th Empress tournament.

Final results follow:

Men's first flight—W. J. Triplett won from J. K. Lintley, Seattle, 4 and 3.

Men's second flight—Dr. W. J. Fowles, Vancouver, won from W. G. Heller, Calgary, 3 and 2.

Men's third flight—J. S. Poyen, Calgary, won from A. Muir, Vancouver, 3 and 1.

Men's fourth flight—J. W. Kendall, Portland, won from R. W. Fraser, Portland, 2 and 1.

Men's fifth flight—P. J. Heltkemper, Portland, won from C. J. Robertson, 1 up.

Men's sixth flight—E. Olds, Seattle, won from R. F. Dwyer, Portland, 2 and 1.

Men's seventh flight—Dr. F. M. Dunn, Seattle, won from W. H. Rice, Winnipeg, 19th.

Men's eighth flight—Dr. L. A. Schueller, Port Angeles, won from Dr. A. S. McCone, Vancouver, 3 and 1.

Men's ninth flight—B. Bruno, Portland, won from P. W. Bell, Victoria, 1 up.

Men's tenth flight—E. E. Oke, Seattle, won from H. D. Medgar, 6 and 3.

Women's first flight—Mrs. F. J. Wolfe won from Mrs. G. E. Verley, 2 and 1.

Women's second flight—Mrs. H. G. Measun won from Mrs. G. E. Bronaugh, 21st.

Women's third flight—Mrs. F. R. Ritchie won from Mrs. M. F. Flon, 4 and 3.

Women's fourth flight—Mrs. W. A. Sutton won from Mrs. M. E. Ross, 20th.

Women's fifth flight—Mrs. R. T. Jackson won from Mrs. C. B. Malory, 4 and 3.

Par competition, men, won by H. G. Love.

Par competition, women, won by Mrs. Coart.

Mixed foursomes won by W. J. Triplett and Mrs. E. J. Morris; runners-up, L. S. Brown and Mrs. Vain.

ESQUIMALT TOO STRONG FOR LEGION

United Tops V. & D. In Solarium Cup

Participating in Saturday's Solarium Cup game counted heavily against the Britannia Legion in yesterday's first game for the Province Cup.

Well up in the play during the first half, Vets tired badly in the last canto to let the Dockers through for a narrow 2 to 1 win.

Gordie Duncan scored for Esquimalt early in the game, and a chance to tie was lost just before the brother when Fred Hardy made a brilliant save on a penalty.

The save was to be typical of Hardy, who played a tremendous game throughout, making at least three near-impossible stops to rob the Legion.

Nip Sage made it 2 to 0 at the 20-minute point in the last half, giving Esquimalt what proved to be a safe margin.

Persistent rushing by the Vets finally beat the smooth Hardy when Charlie Constable drove a high hard one to the corner, but the goal appeared to take the last spark of life out of a short-handed and tired eleven. Five of them had played a tough game against United the day before.

UNITED WIN

Clever finishing around the goal paid off again for Victoria United Saturday afternoon when the city's Coast Soccer League entry lifted the Solarium Cup from the V. and D. All Stars, 3 to 0.

The same smart play which characterized United's victory a week ago saw Wally Milligan figure in each of the three markers, all in the second half.

Milligan scored the first two goals himself, from plays made by linemates Tim Walker and Bob Allen. The third tally he fed to Don McGee, who blasted the ball into the lower left-hand corner.

Although kept out of the scoring columns, the All-Stars made the contest one of the best of the season, controlling play much of the time and showing weakness only when they were in the critical offensive area.

Ken Griffin, Bill Hope and captain Tommy Fallon were outstanding for the District League side.

Clippers Trail Canadians In Allan Cup Play

WINNIPEG (CP)—Fort Frances Canadians overcame a two-goal deficit and went on to defeat Nanaimo Clippers, 6 to 3, here Saturday night in the third game of the best-of-seven western Allan Cup final.

The win put Canadians ahead in the series for the second time. They now lead 2 to 1 in games. Fourth game is scheduled here tonight.

Sambo Fedoruk, with two goals, paced Fort Frances, while Mickey Lynch, Alex Kureba, Morris Saplywa and John Irving counted one each. Don Cully, Andy Clovehok and Red Carr were the Nanaimo marksmen.

Rick Ricard of Canadians and playing-coach Eddie Shamlock of Clippers drew two assists apiece.

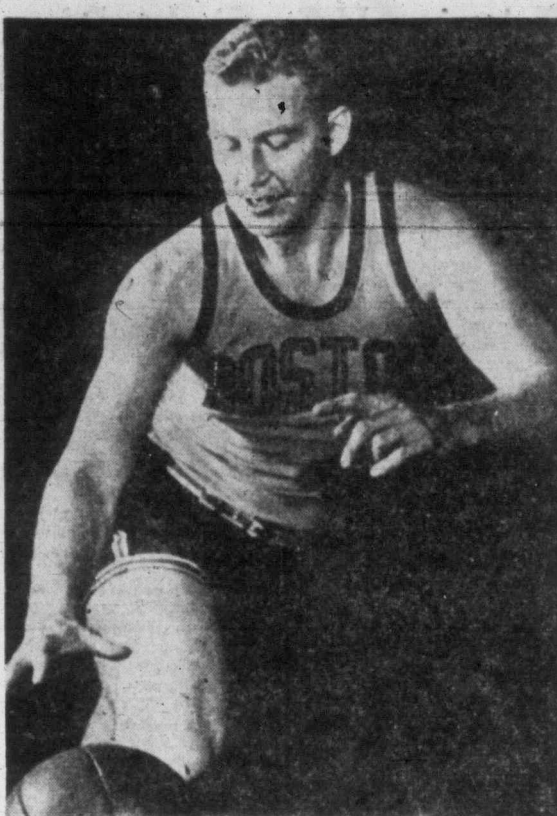

Canadians were down 2 to 0 before Lynch scored late in the first period.

NORM BAKER INKS ROCKS' CONTRACT

Intercity League Club Commences Drills In Arena This Week; Opener Scheduled May 2

With the season's opener just over two weeks away, lacrosse boomed it's way into the news today with the announcement from manager Ralph Baker of the Shamrocks that Norm Baker had been signed.

Addition of Baker to the club brings to an end rumors that the former Adanac star had accepted an offer from the Nanaimo entry in the Intercity League.

In making the announcement, Ralph Baker (Norm's brother) said that Norm had secured employment in the city and would remain for the lacrosse season.

Baker also announced that the Shamrocks would commence training sessions at the Memorial Arena Tuesday night with drills scheduled on Wednesday, Friday and Saturday. The regular Monday night work-out at the High School has been canceled.

The Rocks will warm up for their season's opener here on May 2, with a final practice on May 1. Use of the arena will be lost for a time next week due to the appearance of a circus in the building.

SEVERSON UNSIGNED

Archie Browning is the only other newcomer signed at the moment, Baker admitted, though Whitey Severson is still in town. Lou Landis is another who has been mentioned prominently as coming to the Rocks.

Baker said he expected about 25 players to turn out for the club in the final two weeks.

Rainiers Get Pitching; Take Pair From Padres

All other Pacific Coast Baseball League teams divided the spoils, but not the glutinous Seattle Rainiers.

Mary Grissom and Charley Schanz tamed San Diego Padres Sunday with a pair of six-hit pitching performances to give Seattle a double victory, 11 to 3 and 2 to 1.

Los Angeles and Oakland split a wild twin bill, the Oaks taking the opener 17 to 14 and dropping the nightcap 8 to 6.

The games produced a total of 66 hits, including 11 homers and 45 runs. Sixteen hurlers saw action.

San Francisco Seals whipped Hollywood 5 to 2 in the first game, but dropped the finale 8 to 0 in a rush of Stars' runs. Sacramento took the seven-inning second game 8 to 1 to split their double-header with Portland Beavers. Portland won the opener 7 to 4.

Major League Ball Season Away Today

Pitching Seen As Problem Facing Clubs

NEW YORK (AP)—"We'll win if the pitching holds up."

Ever hear that before? Sure, it's the same old managerial moan as a new major league baseball season begins today with a game in each circuit.

A complete eight-game slate is on tap for tomorrow. "My only worry is pitching," says manager Casey Stengel of the defending champion New York Yankees who help the Senators inaugurate the American League's 51st season in Washington today.

"It all depends on Alie Reynolds. If his arm comes around in the next 10 days, we'll be in fine shape and should win again. Until I know about him, I won't be able to line up my starters." Rookie Tom Morgan, making a jump from class-A ball, got the opening-day assignment. A capacity crowd of 33,000 was expected to watch President Truman throw out the first ball with Bob Kuzava (9-10), taking over for the Nats.

Bucky Harris, Washington pilot, believes his club is better than last year except for the pitching.

"It's up to my pitchers," he said. "If Sid Hudson, Gene Bearden, Kuzava and my two Cuban right-handers come through, we may push into the first division."

GOOD STAFF

Luke Sewell of Cincinnati is one of the few skipper who has no usual pitching problems. He has Ewell Blackwell (17-15), one of the best in the business, all primed for today's opener between the Reds and Pittsburgh Pirates in Cincinnati.

"Pitching is my strong point," says Sewell. "Show me a better starting five than Blackwell, Howard Fox (11-8), Ken Raffensberger (14-19), Hermy Wehmeier (10-18), and Will Ramsdell (8-14). I don't know how we'll fare but we're an improved club."

KINER ON FIRST

Billy Meyer, Pittsburgh pilot, thinks his club can get out of the basement "provided we get the pitching and Ralph Kiner works out at first base." His starters include Murry Dickson, Vernon Law, Will Werle and rookie Bob Friend.

All other managers will have to wait another day to get their first official indication as to how their pitching will hold up. They are all leading with their eyes. Stout Steve O'Neill openly declares that his Boston Red Sox have the best chucking in the American League.

"The Yankees may have the best big three in Lopat, Raschi and Reynolds," he argues, "but I have the best top five in Mel Parnell, Will Wright, Ray Scarborough, Will Nixon and Harry Taylor."

NEED SOUTHPAW

Despite four such fine starters as Bob Lemon, Bob Feller, Early Wynn and Mike Garcia, Al Lopez of Cleveland Indians still has a pitching problem. There isn't a lefthander on the front-line crew. At that, he is much better off than Detroit's Red Rolfe, who still hasn't come up with anyone to replace Art Houtteman, his 19-game winner now in the army. Rolfe also must wait for final judgment on Virgil Trucks, his lame arm right hander.

The Babe Ruth Of Hockey--Richard!

TORONTO (CP)—If Montreal wants to give Maurice (Rocket) Richard the keys to the city and throw in Mount Royal as well, it's no more than 14,567 Toronto hockey fans think he deserves.

The great right-winger gave a convincing demonstration of clutch scoring prowess Saturday with a haymaking pay-off punch against Toronto Maple Leafs. His score after two minutes and 55 seconds of sudden-death overtime gave his Montreal Canadiens a 3 to 2 victory and tied their best-of-seven Stanley Cup final with the Leafs 1 to 1.

It was the Habs first win on Toronto ice this year.

Although a typical Rocket-like swoosh settled the issue, the Leafs had to contend as well with spectacular goaltending by rookie Gerry McNeil and aggressive play of rookie forwards who backed the Toronto team right into its own goal in the first half of the game.

Leafs had to rely mainly on their never-say-die captain, Ted (Teedie) Kennedy, who sparked a comeback drive which produced two goals and got his team on even terms with the Canadiens at the end of the 60 minutes of regulation time.

DISPUTED GOAL

Richard was off for tripping in the third period when Kennedy tied it up on a goal that stirred almost as much excitement as Richard's winner. McNeil protested bitterly that the puck was kicked into the nets and his team-mates joined him in a gesturing debate with referee George Gravel. To cap it all, the official scorer first ruled that Ted Sloan got the score—after the game he awarded it to Kennedy.

The roar of applause that greeted Richard's skilful goal found an echo after the game in the Toronto dressing room where manager Conn Smythe of the Leafs declared that "he's the greatest home run hitter of them all—the Babe Ruth of the National Hockey League."

The payoff goal was Richard's third in the Stanley Cup play-offs. He got the winner in two of the semifinal games against Detroit.

'There's More Than One Way ...'

Toronto's Sid Smith demonstrated a new goal-scoring technique when he beat Montreal's Gerry McNeil for Leafs' first goal at 15:31 of second period Saturday night. McNeil must have thought he had the Toronto-born Smith well covered until the puck went skittering by on the open side. That's Canadiens' Doug Harvey looking on in horror. Rocket Richard won the game for the Habs 3 to 2 with overtime marker, a stunt which is becoming a habit with him.

Big Guns Ousted From Match Play

Sunday was giant-killing day in the Vancouver Island Match Play Open at Gorge Vale Golf Club.

Defending champion Eric Hiberson went down to defeat, bowing to Ron McLeod, 2 and 1.

An even bigger surprise was turned in by the young Chinese shot-maker, Vic Lowe, who took the measure of B.C. Amateur champion Jim Squire, 2-up.

Feature match of the day's play was the Bob Morrison-Ted Colgate game, which Morrison dropped on the 19th hole after being two up with three holes to go. Quarterfinals of the tourney will be played next Sunday at Uplands Golf Club.

Yesterday's results follow: Vic Lowe beat Jim Squire, 2 up; Joe Pryke beat Walter Newcombe, 2 and 1; Vic Painter beat Paul Phillips, 4 and 3; Bob Fleming beat Alan Senior, 7 and 6; Ron McLeod beat Eric Hiberson, 2 and 1; Ken Lee beat Laurie Carroll, 4 and 3; Ted Colgate beat Bob Morrison on the 19th hole; Don Ross beat Bill Court, 1 up.

LOUIS MAY GIVE UP TITLE BID

Seeks Bout With Champ By November

"DETROIT (UP)—Joe Louis revealed today that he will give up his campaign to regain the heavyweight championship unless champion Ezzard Charles agrees to a fall title fight.

"I'd just quit trying to win back the title if I can't get Charles in the ring with me by at least November. I don't figure I can keep a good edge on past that time," Louis said.

The Brown Bomber spent yesterday in the hospital with a bad cold but expects to be back on his feet for a bout with Omelio Agramonte May 2 at Olympia Stadium here. The bout is intended as a tune-up for a second Charles scrap.

"Winning back the championship still means everything to me, but I'm not getting any younger," Louis said.

The former heavyweight king has made no secret of his disappointment at the postponement of his proposed June tussle with Charles when the latter suffered a mangled left ear against Jersey Joe Walcott last March.

"I was so set on fighting him right away that I agreed to only 20 per cent of the gate," Louis disclosed.

Present negotiations for a second Louis-Charles bout have bogged down because Marshall Miles, Louis' manager, insists on a 30-30 split which Charles' manager, Jack Mintz, won't accept.

Miles argues that Louis could have afforded to take the short end of the purse if the fight had been held this spring, but that the delay is costing Joe money.

Georges Bougie Hero In Valleyfield Win

VALLEYFIELD, Que. (CP)—Valleyfield Braves won their first Quebec Senior Hockey League championship Sunday, defeating Quebec Aces 4 to 3 in the ninth game of the final series before a record crowd of 4,000 fans.

Georges Bougie scored the winning goal at 2:48 of the overtime period.

Sport-loving Victorians, barely recovered from celebrating their first hockey championship in 25 years, were besieging the Athletic Park box office this morning for tickets to carry them through the 74-game baseball season.

Reg Patterson's A's will open at home April 30 against the Spokane Indians, and brisk sales today indicated that the team will get plenty of fan support from the start.

First disappointing news since the club opened its spring training at Santa Rosa, California, three weeks ago, is word from the front office that shortstop Russ Walseth will not be in the Victoria line-up this year.

Walseth, a popular performer, was to have helped solidify the Victoria infield, and his loss will mean redoubled efforts by manager Dick Barrett to secure more strength around the key-stone sack.

TRADING BAIT

Barrett reveals that he has at least four men for option or trade, which may aid in filling any holes. Portland catcher John Ritchey will go, and pitchers Warren Noyes and John Brkich will probably be optioned to Salt Lake City. Bob Osborn may be sold outright to Las Vegas.

Adding insult to injury in the matter of Walseth is the real possibility that the New York Yankee-San Francisco Seals agreement, which will keep him from coming to Victoria, may operate to send him to Yakima Bears, who have a working agreement with the Seals.

Given a strengthened infield, Victoria rates this year as one club to be watched in the eight-team Western International League. Coast baseball writers are almost unanimous in treating the new capital city set-up with extreme caution.

CAPILANOS RESPECTED

The other admitted pennant contender is, oddly enough, Vancouver's Capilanos. The Canadian entries are both getting favorable pre-season notices for the first time in many years.

The respect being shown to Bob Brown's mainland entry is due in great part to the energy the Vancouver management is showing in lining up a club that will do justice to their new ball park, scheduled to be finished late in May.

Capilano development parallels that of the A's, with the exception that Victoria has much the better of it on the mound. Both have strong outfields, questionable infields, and some heavy batting talent.

Envious congratulations on behalf of the capital city were extended to Nanaimo Curling Club Saturday by Victoria Curling Club president Max Zabel.

The occasion was the opening of the Nanaimo curling rink, the only structure of its kind on Vancouver Island.

Zabel told the Nanaimo club executive and the large crowd which gathered for the gala event that he was sure the enterprise and energy shown would spur efforts in Victoria, with the result that inter-city curling rivalry would be established.

ENRAGED AT POOR ROUND THE BABE SCORES A 66

DALLAS, Tex. (UP)—Babe Didrikson Zaharias shot a 66, one of the lowest scores ever marked up by a woman, as she won the first leg of the traveling Weatherlane golf tournament—yesterday.

The tourney resumes at Pebble Beach, Calif., May 5 and 6. In two days at Dallas, her old hometown, Mrs. Zaharias played both kinds of golf—good and bad. In Saturday's 18 over windswept Lakewood Country Club she was eight over par with an 83.

Enraged by such a clumsy showing for the hometown folks, she took the same layout apart yesterday with that sensational 33-33. She had nine birdies and nine pars as she turned in the best woman's card in the short history of the ladies' P.G.A. At least two amateurs have had 66's, however. Mrs. Ogal S. Lenczyk of Oklahoma City equalled it in 1948.

314 Communist Planes Downed In Korean War

TOKYO (AP)—The Far East air forces announced today 314 Communist planes have been destroyed or damaged since the beginning of the Korean war last June 25. Ninety-three were Russian-built jet fighters.

The report said the score involved planes shot down or damaged by allied aircraft.

The air force said that during the same period 184 Allied planes were lost—only 11 of them in air combat.

Allied planes damaged included some that managed to return to bases.

A breakdown of red losses showed 46 YAK-9 fighter planes and 42 MIG-15 Russian jets were destroyed.

—Old Mother Nature.

Long, long, long ago in the days when the world was young lived the great-great-ever-so-great grandfather of Motmot, in the Land-of-always-summer, and is known by many as King of the Woods, although of course he isn't a real king at all. He looked very much as Motmot does now excepting for his tail.

He had just as long a tail as has Motmot today, and he was just as proud of it. He often compared it with the tail of his neighbor, great-great-ever-so-great-grandfather Jacamar, and secretly was glad his own tail was much the longer. He never missed a chance to draw attention to that lovely long tail when Grandfather Jacamar was in the neighborhood. To do this he used to swing it from side to side like a pendulum, whereas other birds jerked their tails up and down. Still Grandfather

Jacamar took no notice. He had a very good tail of his own. His coat was just as handsome as Grandfather Motmot's, if not a little handsomer.

GRANDFATHER UPSET

Then one day when Grand father Motmot was dressing his two long middle tail feathers by running them through his bill he accidentally pulled out a couple of the tiny feathers from the side of one of the long quills. It was a little more than halfway down toward the tip. Of course it made a little gap there. Great-great-ever-so-great-grandfather

Motmot was upset.

He pulled out two tiny feathers from the other side of the quill right opposite the gap to even up the looks of the feather.

That didn't help because it made the feather look as if it were breaking apart there. Then, too, beside the other perfect feather it looked doubly ragged. The two feathers ought at least to look alike. So he picked out some tiny feathers from the perfect long feather, so as to make it look like the other.

But this made both feathers look as if they were breaking apart. Yes, sir, it made him look as if his whole tail was broken.

Perhaps if he made those gaps a little wider it would look less so.

He pulled out a few more of those tiny feathers, making the gaps wider, but keeping them even. This made the remaining parts of the feathers below the gaps look more ornamental. It made his tail look odd, and this drew attention to it. This he liked. He kept fussing.

When he sat still on a limb that long tail hung down looking very much like a double pendulum and when he swung it from side to side it looked even more so. Now everybody took notice of his tail, even Great-great-ever-so-great-grandfather Jacamar.

But the latter still refused to be envious.

The time came for digging homes and both chose a certain bank where the earth was not too tightly packed for easy digging. Grandpa Jacamar kicked the dirt out of their doorway as they dug and let it lay where it fell. Their doorstep looked and was most untidy. Grandpa and Grandma Motmot kicked the dirt out of their doorway in the same manner, but when the last of it had been kicked out Grandpa

Motmot sat in his doorway and swinging his long tail with the round button tips, swept his doorstep clean so that Old Mother Nature noticed it. She was so pleased that she ruled that from that time on all Mo-tots should prune their tails to make them ornamental, and swing them from side to side to make them useful and for the admiration of their neighbors.

So he wasn't the least bit envious and took no notice of Grandfather Motmot's long tail.

So it has been in the Motmot family ever since that long-ago day when the world was young. Anyway, that is the story of why the King of the Woods swings his tail, but of course he may have some other good reason for doing it, and probably has, that only he and Old Mother Nature know.

Lady Astor Tells The World About Stalin, Communism, MacArthur, British Laborites

By ED CREAUGH

WASHINGTON (AP)—Lady Astor, fire in her eye and a pert spring bonnet a-tilt on her head, said today:

Gen. MacArthur never should have been put in Tokyo—it made him feel like a god.

Stalin reminds her of a Scotsman.

If the United States would give Britain the food it wastes, Britons would look as well fed as Americans.

And if Britain votes a Labor government into power again, it will serve the British voters right.

Looking not more than three-quarters of her 70-some years, Lady Astor was interviewed on NBC's "Meet the Press" television show.

She hedged a bit on MacArthur—said he was a genius but probably had to be fired if he wouldn't carry out the President's policies. Then:

"I think Japan was the worst place in the world for Gen. MacArthur to have gone. The Japanese think the emperor is God, and when he had to take the emperor's place it looked like they thought he was God. I don't think it's good for any man to have anybody think he's God."

"Is the British government trying to appease the Chinese Communists?" Lady Astor was asked.

Her eyes narrowed.

Personally, she said, "I wouldn't touch them (the Communists) with a barge pole."

And as for appeasement: "Hang it all, hasn't Britain twice in this century saved you from dictators?"

"I wasn't arguing—" the reporter started to say.

"You'd better not," Lady Astor told him.

What's Your Opinion?

By IRVING STRICKLAND and DAVE STOCK

"Is spring house cleaning a habit or a necessity?"

Mrs. Christina Henderson, housewife, 1331 Vimy Street —

"It's a habit. A good housewife will clean every day and won't have work pile up on her. I don't spring clean or fall clean. I clean up every day. And painting can be done at any time. In our home, when a room needs to be done, we do it. I know that to a lot of women, spring cleaning means turning the house upside down. I don't think men appreciate coming home to a house that's topsy-turvy. Housework isn't a chore but you can make it a chore, if you want. Housewives should plan their daily routines."

Ed. Roberts, retired city fireman, 1220 McKenzie Avenue — "It's not a habit. At least, I don't think so. I would say it's a necessity. I believe in a proper spring clean-up not only in the house but in the yard as well. Spring should be a time to paint up and fix the fence and take care of all the other chores that pile up. People should remember it puts a more valuable price on their property if they keep it in shape. If not looked after properly, a place can soon go to ruin. It's best to do a little every year and spring is a good time. Inside, one room at a time is the best way to clean up."

Mrs. Marjorie Mahar, housewife, 1415 Fort Street — "I think it's a habit one more or less gets into. I know it's a habit with me. Of course, when spring comes around one gets the urge to get in and pull things apart and put them straight again. Probably, though, a person could just as well do the same thing at any other time of year. Then, on the other hand, there is always an excess of dirt after a winter and there are certain jobs that have to wait for the fine weather. One can't climb outside and clean the windows very well until there's fine weather."

Mrs. Lenora McQuillan, housewife, 1175 Oscar Street — "A necessity. After the winter there's always a lot to do — especially if you have a furnace that smokes. You can do a certain amount of cleaning any day but there's nothing like a thorough cleaning in the spring. It's a big job but once it's done you have a good start for the rest of the summer. The worst job of all is washing the paint. Someone should invent some kind of a machine for doing that. With me, I'm cleaning all the time."

Alec Henderson, retired, East Saanich Road — "I firmly believe it's a habit. Mind, it's a good habit. As far as I'm concerned you'd do better if you asked that question of my wife. She might have a different opinion. But that's a good question. It reminds me of the story about the fellow who said he spring cleaned his house every ten years whether it needed it or not."

Mrs. C. Morgan, housewife, 350 Linden — "It's definitely a necessity. After months of having the furnace on and being in house all the time, a house needs to be cleaned. You should clean regularly, of course. But in the spring, that's the time to really get into the corners. I would say it takes at least two weeks to properly spring clean the average house. I believe in doing one room at a time. It's too much of a thing to try and do them all at once."

Steelworkers' Union Attorney Attacks Reds

Labor Relations Board Reopens Case On Certification Of Trail Workers

Employees of Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company plants at Trail should be given the opportunity to vote on whether or not they want another union representing them because of Communist domination in the union that has the bargaining authority now, the Labor Relations Board was told today.

T. G. Norris K.C., Vancouver, representing the United Steelworkers of America, made this submission at the resumption of a protracted fight for jurisdiction in the Trail plant.

The Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers' Union has jurisdiction now.

Mr. Norris said the labor board may have had a legal misconception in refusing the original application of the steelworkers for certification at the plant.

Since then, however, Mr. Justice Coody had decreed in a test case that the steelworkers members at Trail were members of the union in good standing.

The whole issue also had been examined by Mr. Justice Clynne and the labor board "would be very bold indeed" to ignore the decisions of the Supreme Court. The hearing is continuing.

Cancer Groups In Will Case

Two cancer societies were requested by Mr. Justice A. D. Macfarlane in Supreme Court Chambers today to appear in court next month to assert their claims for the $17,000 bequest of the late Mrs. Helen Stewart, 4015 Braefoot Road, who left her estate to "the Cancer Fund."

Because the widow, who died in Victoria early this year, omitted to name in her will the society to receive the philanthropic bequest, the court will have to decide whether the money shall go to a cancer society or four relatives in eastern Canada.

Mr. Justice Macfarlane requested John McIntosh, counsel for John Bond, executor of the estate, to notify the Canadian Cancer Society, B.C. Division, and the King George V Silver Jubilee Cancer Fund, to appear in court on May 7. He suggested that the two societies be represented by one counsel.

Hector M. Vogler was remanded without plea to Thursday. He was charged with being intoxicated while in control of an auto on Craigflower Road Saturday. His counsel is James J. Proudfoot.

POSTMAN FOR A DAY

Immigrant Gets Help From School Children

A recent immigrant, hardly able to speak or read English, had a brief fling as a Victoria mailman last week—until irate Oak Bay homeowners brought about his removal from temporary duty. The Times learned today.

Postmaster John Sinclair explained the unusual situation was based on a critical shortage of carriers at the moment. Mr. Sinclair said the matter has now been adjusted.

The carrier in question was hired through the National Employment Service office late one day last week when it was found he was the only one of several applicants willing to take the job.

Postal workers recalled they loaded the tyro up late in the day with already-sorted mail, showed him his Oak Bay route on the map, and hustled him off.

CHILDREN HELP OUT

The man found the proper district but soon encountered difficulty making out the names and addresses on letters and packages. In his broken English, however, he was able to ask for help from some of the surprised

VICTORIA

The drunk parade was fairly heavy in police court today, made up of seven Indians and four white men.

Herbert C. Everston, 2938 Cedar Hill Road, facing charges of dangerous driving and failing to remain at the scene of an accident Saturday afternoon, was remanded to Friday at the request of counsel J. Ronald Grant. A plea of not guilty was entered in the dangerous driving case, no plea taken in the other.

Because he said he did not understand the charge, Maurice McGraw, 137 Michigan, was remanded to tomorrow on a charge of assaulting Florence McGraw.

Counsel George F. Gregory entered pleas of not guilty to charges against Robert Davis of assaulting Hazel Hathaway and using grossly-insulting language. The case was remanded to May 21.

Fine of $25 was imposed against William King, Sherwood Hotel, when he pleaded guilty to a charge of being in charge of vehicle without a 1951 driver's license.

Founder Of George Mine At Stewart Dies In Hospital

Will B. George, 83, of 992 Gorge Road West, founder of the George gold-copper mine at Stewart, died in St. Joseph's Hospital Sunday.

Born in England in 1868, Mr. George was a member in Queen Victoria's Dragoon Guards until 1896 when he came to Canada. He prospected in the Kootenay country and then went north founding the George gold-copper mine which he later sold to the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Co.

Funeral services will be held in B.C. Funeral Chapel on Wednesday at 1.

Coats were forgotten as Margaret Scott, left, and Marjory Whatts, civil servants, walked to work today.

Summer Weather Will Stay On—Weatherman

Victoria during the week-end basked in its hottest weather this year. Hundreds donned play clothes to work in gardens, stroll in Beacon Hill or just take it easy on beaches from the outer wharf to Cadboro Bay. Tennis clubs and golf courses were thronged as the mercury hit 69 Sunday.

The always popular Willows Beach was thronged with young and old. Lack of wind produced a mid-summer effect. "And there's no end of the fine weather in sight," according to Weatherman W. H. Mackie, today who hastened to add "in sight means the next 48 hours."

High pressures areas mean "fine weather," according to the weather bureau and lately "high pressure area" has become synonymous with Victoria... at least for the last dozen days or so.

Blood-Stained Clothes On Exhibit At Duncan Hearing

Trial Of Mrs. Cole Continues

DUNCAN—Blood-stained child's garments were produced as exhibits today when the preliminary hearing of Mrs. Rose Ellen Cole of Port Renfrew, continued in Duncan police court.

Mrs. Cole is charged with causing grievous bodily harm in connection with the death of her daughter, June Elizabeth Hill, 3, at her Port Renfrew home March 6.

The stains were identified as human blood by Dr. Douglas Roxburgh, pathologist at St. Joseph's Hospital, Victoria, who gave evidence of the autopsy.

Other evidence given included that of Const. W. G. Lambert, R.C.M.P., who visited the defendant's home on the day of the child's death.

There he said he was told by Mrs. Cole that the child had fallen out of the crib. Later, she admitted this was not true, he said, and revealed she beat her daughter with a piece of firewood.

The child died after supper that day.

Const. Lambert said the defendant admitted also using a belt on the child, but that she had burned it. Radiographs showing the child's injuries were submitted as evidence by Dr. Ivan Tchapereff of St. Joseph's.

Stabbing Case Jury Retires

An Assize Court jury retired early this afternoon to deliberate a verdict in the case of 66-year-old Russian-born Anton Konkin, charged with stabbing his friend, John Novak, with intent to murder.

The quarrel took place in Novak's 2578 Cook Street home. Both men suffered from knife wounds and received treatment at Royal Jubilee Hospital.

Gordon Cameron, counsel for Konkin, in his address to the jury said the ill-feeling between the two friends was largely due to Novak's son, Joseph. Vancouver barrister, who initiated a court action against Konkin. He said Konkin was ruined as the result of the civil suit.

CITY PARKS DEPARTMENT BOOSTS VANCOUVER'S SWAN POPULATION

Five young mute swans at Beacon Hill Park have been given to Stanley Park to help boost the swan population in the Vancouver park, it was announced by the city parks department today. They weigh 30 pounds each.

In return for the swans, Beacon Hill Park hopes to get some wood ducks and mandarins for its ponds. The two ducks species are in short supply at the park.

"We have a surplus of swans," said a park official. "But we do need some wood ducks, and have been promised some from Stanley Park in exchange for the swans."

Victorians May Enter 'Miss Canada' Contest

Victoria's endorsement and participation in the annual "Miss Canada Pageant" to be held in Hamilton, Ont., in mid-July, was sought by S. J. Bibby, president of the pageant board of directors, in a letter to Mayor Percy George today.

"Certain changes have been effected which we believe will add dignity and appeal to the pageant," Mr. Bibby wrote.

"Included among these is the elimination of the wearing of bathing suits as a basis of judging," he added.

Irish Envoy Will Speak Here April 23

Sean Murphy, ambassador of Ireland, will be guest speaker at the April 23 luncheon meeting of the Canadian Club at the Empress Hotel. He will discuss "Modern Ireland in the World Today."

A graduate of University College, Dublin, Mr. Murphy was later admitted to the Irish Bar. In 1928, he became assistant secretary of External Affairs. During the next ten years he was a member of various Irish delegations to Imperial Conferences and the League of Nations. For the past 12 years he represented his country as minister to France and Belgium.

"This change will, we believe, make it possible for many re-find young Canadian girls to compete on the basis of talent, intelligence, poise, personality, charm and beauty, who may have formerly declined because of having to parade before the judges in a bathing suit."

CONTEST DEADLINE

Local contest for Miss Victoria should be held not later than July 5, Mr. Bibby said, and should be sponsored by some service club, Junior Chamber of Commerce or like organization.

The winner will be sent, with all expenses paid, to Hamilton. Miss Canada will compete in the Miss America contest at Atlantic City Sept. 3 to 9.

Our ultimate aim is to have Miss Canada win at Atlantic City and be crowned Miss America," wrote Mr. Bibby. "This prize would be worth at least $50,000 to the young lady."

Bridal Season Is Here
Penny Offers Gift Tips

By PENNY SAVER

They say that spring is the season for brides, at least the start of the grand rush.

That is all very fine for the young bride-elect, but the problems that face most of us is what to give her at the showers prior to the marriage.

Maling ware, with floral patterns set on a deep blue background, come in numerous gift pieces from $1.95. Cut glass vases, always a welcome gift, start at $4.50 and silver deposit ware, offered in many shapes and sizes, are sold from $3.95.

Separate service plates in attractive designs which can be added to, start at 79 pennies and teapots, a necessity, can be bought for 89 pennies.

Wall pockets, in plaid or fruit style, are $3.75, and can do wonders for a dull corner.

Table centres, bird style, cost $1.50, and matching bowls are yours for $2.50.

Any bride would be proud to own the Japanese Dresden type figurines, which are only $1.00. Also in this category are the imitation Hummel figurines which come in many styles, all 69 pennies.

Something new to serve at your shower would be pretzel bits. They are about the size of a hazel nut and cost 39 cents a tin, or you can get a package for 10 pennies.

You'll just love the celery onion sticks which can be bought to serve at a cocktail party or shower for 25 cents a tin.

When ironing, move iron in unhurried, rhythmic strokes. Do not press down on iron.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Having Baby Is No Longer
Excuse For Figure Faults

Having a baby is a wonderful experience and today it should be happy and comfortable, with little risk involved and no fears concerning loss of beauty.

A baby has ceased to be a good alibi for a spreading hipline and thickened waist, once it has arrived in this world.

Do not think of pregnancy as a time of illness but do think of it as a time when you should give yourself special care. The very first and important thing is to see your doctor as soon as you suspect that you are to have an addition to the home. Do not feel that you should wait a while because it is important that your physician see you early. In this way he will be able to avoid any detrimental conditions which might develop.

Here are a few hints which will be helpful to you.

Whether you wear a girdle depends on whether you are more comfortable with or without it, unless your doctor gives you some definite advice in this matter.

Garden Talk—A. E. Littler, secretary, Horticultural department, Department of Agriculture, gave a talk on gardening at meeting of Luxton and Happy Valley Women's Institute. Question period followed. Colored film, "Springtime in Holland" was shown by Mrs. A. Ramsfield and Mrs. K. Phillips. Quilt blocks were collected by Mrs. A. Mills, also a sum of $14.16 collected for the Solarium. Plans were completed for catering at the annual meeting of Esquimalt Liberal Association and a sale of cuttings, plants and flowers was held after the meeting. Refreshments were served.

ter. Most women who have always worn one will prefer to continue doing so, changing to a maternity garment after the first two or three months.

It is essential to comfort and health that you wear brassieres planned especially for pregnancy, as the breasts become heavier. Always lie down when you nurse your child. If you wear correct bras during pregnancy, lie down during nursing periods, and afterwards take rest exercises you will see very little difference in your bustline.

Eat a well-balanced diet, as you always should, but be certain to drink a quart of milk a day and take some vitamin D.

Walking will be your best exercise. How far you walk depends on your individual habits and physical stamina. Some women walk as much as four miles daily with benefit while others walk only a mile. The important thing is to avoid fatigue but do get out in the fresh air and take a daily walk. Let your doctor guide you in how long it should be.

See your dentist often during pregnancy. Teeth have a tendency to decay at this time because the baby requires so much calcium.

If you are nauseated in the morning, eat white crackers before even trying to get up. Begin your figure reforming exercises as soon after the birth of your child as your doctor says you can. This is usually when the baby is about six weeks old.

If you would like to have my leaflet No. 21, "Care During and After Pregnancy," send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Delegates Arrive For Provincial I.O.D.E. Convention

Lower lounge at Empress Hotel presented a busy picture this morning as members of I.O.D.E. chapters from many parts of the province registered for the 38th annual meeting of Provincial Chapter. Pictured at the left are Mrs. G. Charlton and Mrs. R. A. Brook, Burnaby; Mrs. L. Hooper, Kelowna, and Mrs. V. Best, Ganges. In the picture at the right are Mrs. N. C. Stibbs, Nelson; Mrs. J. E. Enoch, Burnaby; Mrs. M. Magee and Mrs. J. Deans, Castlegar. Registrations continue all today, with discussion meetings of officers and standing committee chairman groups. This evening formal opening will be held in the Crystal Ballroom at the hotel, commencing with colorful procession of standards. Greetings from provincial government will be given by Hon. Nancy Hodges; from the city by Mayor Percy E. George, and Victoria Municipal Chapter by the regent, Mrs. C. L. Bishop, all to be replied to by Mrs. C. H. Jeffares, Trail. Mrs. Pellant, provincial president, will also give her address tonight.

Admission To Tea
Determined By Waistline

Guests were introduced to a novel idea at the gay apron tea, held by Major John Hebdon Gillespie recently at the home of Mrs. G. D. Kendall, Monterey Avenue.

The new touch to an afternoon tea was for guests to measure their waistline and fill the pocket of a tiny apron with change corresponding to the number of inches.

Receiving guests were Mrs. H. L. Woolson, regent, and Mrs. Kendall.

Mrs. Kenneth C. Cook was convener, assisted by Mrs. D. A. M. Patterson and Mrs. C. H. Rennie. Presiding at the tea table were Mesdames W. C. Nichol, C. L. Bishop, A. H. C. Phipps, C. Bradshaw, H. B. French, G. P. Clarke, J. C. MacDonald.

Rooms were decorated with daffodils, wild lilies, and grape hyacinths. Green candles and blending green bowl containing a floral arrangement of spring flowers adorned the refreshment table.

Proceeds from the tea will be added to the general fund to carry on the work of the chapter. Members also sold spring flowers.

St. Saviour's Evening branch, Woman's Auxiliary, home of Mrs. M. Crocker, 311 Robert Street, tonight at 8.

Fresh lemon juice gives a welcome tartness to tuna, sardines, salmon, and shrimp mixtures. When making canapés or sandwich fillings, be sure to include lots of lemon juice, for added zest to the seafoods.

Andrew Whisker Praises
Single Transferable Vote

"The single transferable vote is the most democratic way of voting that has ever been brought into being," stressed Andrew Whisker, M.L.A. for Cowichan-Newcastle, in a general talk on the Liberal Party at Liberal Women's Forum yesterday afternoon at headquarters.

He also urged women to take more interest in politics.

It was reported that Mrs. T. C. Smith, president, and other members of the executive, Mesdames Blair Reid, J. Mortimer, H. I. Mackenzie, will attend the provincial women's convention in Trail April 26 and 27.

Tea hostesses for the afternoon were ladies of Esquimalt and Oak Bay wards, and presiding at the tea table were Mrs. Rod McKenzie and Mrs. R. Morrison.

Assisting were Mesdames J. T. Jones and J. P. Rogers.

A Spring Floral Scene
At Short-Parrott Rites

Muriel Ann Parrott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil M. Parrott, Finlayson Avenue, and Raymond Glenn Short, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Short, New Westminster, were married in St. John's Anglican Church Saturday evening by Canon N. S. Noel, Nanaimo.

Standard baskets filled with Spring flowers adorned the church and pews were decorated with green ribbons and yellow daffodils.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, chose a gown of heavy white taffeta, with fitted bodice, full skirt en train and lace bolero jacket with stand-up collar and elbow length sleeves. A rhinestone necklace, gift of the groom, was worn and the bride carried a crescent-shaped bouquet of gardenia, yellow roses, and lily of the valley.

Mrs. D. A. O'Brien, and Mrs. H. N. Parrott, sister-in-law, wore yellow and green respectively, styled the same as the bride's dress.

Flower girl, Sherry Louis Parrott, niece, wore a yellow taffeta gown.

Mr. Frank LaBute was best man, and D. A. O'Brien, and J. E. Parrott, brother of the bride, ushers.

A hand crocheted table cloth centred with a three-tiered cake topped with sweet-heart roses, decorated the bride's table at the reception held at the home of her parents, Finlayson Avenue.

Upon leaving for a honeymoon motoring in the United States, the bride wore a light grey flannel suit, yellow and grey checked shortie coat with yellow and black accessories.

Mrs. Charles Macklem Nelles, the former Miss Gillian Gooden, with her bridal attendants, Miss Sylvia Crofton, Miss Jane Ridewood, Miss Pamela Johnston and little Miss Madeleine Nation. Calla lilies, daffodils, forsythia and spring blossoms decorated the Gooden home at Royal Oak, where the reception was held.

Spring Yellow, Color Tone, Nelles-Gooden Wedding

Delicate yellows in forsythia and daffodils caught and held the golden sunshine of a perfect spring day to create a beautiful picture in Christ Church Cathedral, Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Principals were Gillian Massy Gooden, daughter of Capt. and Mrs. Massy Gooden, Arlow Farm, Royal Oak, and Charles Macklem Nelles, son of Admiral and Mrs. P. W. Nelles, 620 St. Charles Street, Victoria.

The ceremony, performed in the presence of a notable assemblage of guests, was perfect in every detail. Later, at the country home of the bride's parents, a reception was held. Among guests were His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Clarence Wallace.

Calla lilies were placed on and at both sides of the altar. At the chancel rail, calla lilies were intermingled with white stock, blossoms, forsythia, and palms and ferns. Family pews were marked with white satin bows and small bouquets of forsythia and daffodils.

Bishop of British Columbia, Harold E. Sexton, performed the service in which the bride received the wedding ring that had been worn by the groom's paternal grandmother, a circle of diamonds.

Exquisite Chantilly lace webbed in silver, fashioned the bodice of the wedding gown, styled with square neck and lily point sleeves. From a fitted waistline clouds of nylon net fell into a graceful bouffant skirt. A full-length veil of illusion net misted from a lace and net Juliette cap and the fair-haired bride carried stephanotis, bouvardia and palest yellow daffodils.

Bridesmaids wore diaphanous gowns of muted yellow net posed over shimmering taffeta. Halos of spring flowers shading from deep golden tones to white were their headresses and they carried shower bouquets of match in spring flowers. They included Miss Pamela Johnston, Miss Jane Ridewood, Miss Sylvia Crofton, and little Miss Madeleine Nation, niece of the bride, as flower girl, in white organza with circle of primroses in her hair and carrying a basket of spring posies.

Dr. Geoffrey Homer was best man and ushers, Mr. George Nation, Mr. John Wade, Mr. Herbert Brown, Mr. Herbert Hammond, and Mr. Jack Scott-Harston.

The bride's uncle, Mr. Reginald Tupper, K.C., Vancouver, proposed the toast.

"For a honeymoon in California, the bride changed to a soft French blue wool dressmaker suit with French model halo hat of pink straw which harmonized with her pink blouse. Her accessories were navy and palest pink roses and carnations were in her corsage bouquet.

On their return, Mr. and Mrs. Nelles' new home will be at 29 Beach Drive.

Miss Beverley Bone Given In Marriage By Her Grandfather

Traveling on the mainland and Seattle on their honeymoon are Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Alfred Pimlott, who were married Saturday evening in Emmanuel Baptist Church by Rev. James Smith.

The bride is the former Miss Beverly Jean Bone, daughter of Mrs. M. V. Bone, and the late Douglas Bone, 1413 Denman Street, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Weir, 504 Cecelia Avenue.

E. W. Harding, grandfather of the bride, gave her in marriage, and Donald Pimlott, brother of the groom, was best man. William Boughner was an usher.

The bride's gown was fashioned in embroidered velvet-ray satin with portrait neckline, tight fitting bodice, and bouffant skirt.

A full length embroidered veil was worn and the shower bouquet was red roses and lily of the valley.

Mrs. T. Bowcott, matron of honor, wore a blue taffeta gown, and Dorothy Bone, sister of the bride, wore a pink taffeta gown of similar design.

Wedding reception was held at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. G. S. Newell, Yukon Street. The table was decorated with lace cloth and-and-spring flowers, centred with a wedding cake.

H. Harding, uncle of the bride, proposed the toast.

A wine suit with grey accessories, and corsage bouquet of pink roses and lily of the valley was worn by Mrs. Pimlott when she left on her honeymoon.

Mawdsley-Taylor Wedding In Chapel, St. John's Church

Mrs. R. G. Taylor gave her daughter, Joyce Leyland, in marriage Saturday evening when she became the bride of Stanley Richard Mawdsley in chapel of St. John's Anglican Church. Canon George Biddle officiated at the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Taylor, 1003 McCaskill Street, and the late R. G. Taylor, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Mawdsley, 3697 Craigmillar Avenue.

For the quiet ceremony, the bride chose a butterfly gray suit of gabardine with chic navy blue accessories. She pinned a gardenia, encircled in vivid red roses, to her lapel.

A tulleur of beige gabardine, navy blue accessories and corsage bouquet of dainty pink carnations were the ensemble worn by matron of honor, Mrs. David Horn, sister of the bride.

Kenneth Mawdsley was best man for his brother.

The newlyweds cut a three-tier cake at reception held at home of the groom's parents. The table was set with lace cloth and bowls of bright spring flowers. Lawrie Westendale proposed the toast.

The new Mrs. Mawdsley added a white shortie topcoat to her wedding ensemble for the honeymoon trip to Vancouver and Seattle.

Mother Designs Gown Worn By Bridie Keogh At Wedding

Shimmering ivory satin, clouded in tulle, and overlaid in delicate lace fashioned the gown worn by Miss Bridie Keogh, daughter of Mrs. P. Keogh, and the late Mr. Keogh, St. Patrick Street, when she exchanged marriage vows with Harold Vernon Bassett, son of Mrs. W. P. Bassett, and the late Mr. Bassett, Shakespeare Street, in Our Lady of Lourdes Church, Saturday evening. Father McNamara officiated.

The bride's gown was designed and presented as a gift from her mother. The fitted bodice was touched with a lace collar embroidered in pearls. A cascade bouquet of roses and lilies added to the picture.

Pale yellow daffodils and narcissi decorated the church where the bride was given in marriage by her brother, Michael Keogh.

Miss Madeline Coltis sang while the couple signed the register.

Miss Mary Keogh, sister of the bride, Miss Jacqueline Jorre de St. Jorre and Miss Ariel Marie Jorre de St. Jorre, attendants, wore bouffant skirted ballerina length gowns in lilac, blue and yellow, with matching capes, hats and muffs. The flower girl, little Miss Dianne Bassett, wore a similar gown.

Dr. Lloyd Bassett was best man, and Francis Keogh and Brian Bassett were ushers.

Australians Apathetic As Voting 2 Weeks Away; Menzies Confident

MELBOURNE (Reuters)—Australians are showing a marked lack of fervor for the April 28 federal election despite grave issues facing the Commonwealth.

Molva theatres are packed while political meetings draw slender attendances less than two weeks before polling day.

The leaders of the rival Labor and right-wing Coalition parties, however, have drawn normally big followings as they make flying campaign tours of the 3,000-square-mile continent, outlining policies on inflation and the Communist threat.

Prime Minister Robert Menzies has seen enough, however, to be confident of his return to power.

After campaigning across the Commonwealth, its 5,000 electoral roll swollen to unprecedented size by thousands of post-war immigrants, Menzies said the Labor Party has no chance of returning to office.

Labor leader Joseph Chiefley countered in Sydney with the prediction that Labor will regain enough seats lost in the 1949 general election to turn the tables on Menzies.

More than 10,000,000 ballot forms are being printed in a race against time for distribution throughout Australia.

Many scattered hamlets and lonely settlers in inland desert country and dense tropical forests will get their ballot papers by air or horse transport.

Some polling points are so remote it will take up to 12 days' travel to bring the voting papers to a counting centre.

Science Brings New Hope For Victims Of Muscular Disease

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE

Associated Press Science Editor

NEW YORK—A few rays of hope for the muscular-weakness diseases known as muscular dystrophy were reported during the week-end.

The weakness is a whole group of baffling diseases, beginning with young children, whose plight is worse than anything in poliomyelitis, and who usually die by young adulthood.

Dr. Donald McTachern, professor of neurology, McGill University, Montreal, said vitamins and hormones have helped three of the milder types but that they have been no good for the children. He reported this to the first country-wide medical conference on the muscular weaknesses held by the muscular dystrophy association.

The vitamins are various forms of E, which is a nerve stimulant. The hormones are Cortisone and ACTH.

Irish Visit By Royalty Opposed

HUDDERSFIELD (Reuters)—Anti-partition Irishmen in Britain have advised the King and Queen not to make their scheduled June visit to Northern Ireland.

The central executive council of the Anti-Partition of Ireland League Saturday passed a resolution "maintaining no disrespect to Their Majesties" but counselling against the visit.

It said it would cause "considerable resentment among Irish people."

TRIPLE ACTION LIQUID BLEACH

is wonderful for...

BATHROOMS

Where extra cleanliness and sanitation are necessary—as in the bathroom—you'll find Perfex Triple Action Liquid Bleach a grand help. It keeps tub, basin, toilet bowl, tiles gleaming and germ-free. Perfex Triple Action Liquid Bleach whitens—disinfects—deodorizes. (If directions are followed, it can be safely used with septic tank installations.) For a spotless bathroom—keep Perfex handy always.

did you know...

In addition to Perfex Liquid Bleach there is Perfex Powdered Bleach. You can use it safely for fabrics formerly considered unbleachable—such as nylon, wool, silk or rayon. Put it in the dishpan, too, to give a sparkle to glassware and china. PERFEX LIQUID BLEACH makes linens and cottons whiter. Because its strength never varies—Perfex is always gentle—always safe—so clothes last longer.

TOWELS

Use Perfex Liquid Bleach to keep bath or hand towels sparkling fresh and clean. PERFEX—the gentle bleach—makes white and colorfast towels truly bright. PERFEX is easy to use—just add it to the wash-water.

LINGERIE

Perfex Powdered Bleach was developed to keep your nylon or rayon lingerie immaculate and looking like new. It softens water—makes more suds—saves soap. Look for the handy blue-striped package at your grocer's.

WOOLLENS

When you wash baby's woolies or your own fine sweaters, add Perfex Powdered Bleach to the water. It keeps them soft and fresh and is absolutely safe for all white or colorfast woollens.

IN TUNE WITH THE TIMES

All through the past season the Dominion Network program, "Press Conference" has consistently remained one of the most interesting and highly informative forums of its type on the air. Each week members of the Fourth Estate gather in some focal point such as Ottawa, Vancouver, Toronto, Montreal, Washington, New York, Lake Success, London, Paris or Berlin, armed with a barrage of pertinent questions, and ready to take some military or political leader over the jumps.

Tonight's program, originating in the Canadian Capital and heard locally over CJOR and CJVI at 7.30, promises to be one of the most interesting of the entire series, coming as it does on the heels of the federal budget. Hemmed in, across the conference table will be none other than the Finance Minister, the Hon. Douglas Abbott. He will be facing such highly experienced interrogators as Robert McKeown, of the Montreal Standard; Keneth Wilson, of the Financial Post; Dillon O'Leary, of the Vancouver Sun; Chester Bloom, of the Winnipeg Free Press; Pierre de Bellefeuille, of Le Droit, Montreal; Warren Baldwin, of the Toronto Globe and Mail; Arthur Blakely, of the Ottawa Gazette; and from Time Magazine, will be Grace Reynolds, seeing that the women's point of view isn't overlooked. The chairman will be Blair Fraser, Ottawa editor of Maclean's Magazine.

Next week George Drew will be the conference guest with Bob McKeown in the chair. Information is not available as yet on the April 30 program, after which "Press Conference" leaves the air.

In its place, effective May 7, will be "Dominion Magazine." Plans for the series are not yet finalized but may include a weekly comment from either London, the United Nations, or Ottawa; presented in an interesting and forthright a fashion as possible, using commentators who are well known to Canadian listeners. There will be items under two or three sub-headings, including a significant report with a new development, from a human angle; an actuality; and another entitled "In My Opinion." Speakers would cover timely topics on everything from the Korean War up and down.

Another new short program to hit the air Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays over CJVI at 8.10 p.m., should prove of particular interest to both men and women with a flair for home decorating.
"Home Decorating School of the Air" will present proven decorating techniques suggested for every room in the house including the basement. Problems of decorating both old and new homes will be dealt with, including the use of color to conceal awkward architectural features.

Radio's oldest continuous coast-to-coast network program, the "Voice of Firestone" and first to be commercially broadcast and televised simultaneously enters its 23rd year on the air with tonight's performance. Since 1928 this show has occupied the same broadcast time, on the same network and is one of the few programs to continue through the summer season. Nadine Connor, opera soprano, will be tonight's guest, singing the brilliant
"Jewel Song" from Gounod's "Faust," "April in Paris" and others. Howard Barlow, the director since 1943, will conduct the orchestra. 5.30 on KOMO.

OTHER GOOD LISTENING for tonight... "Lux Theatre" at 6, over KIRO and CBR. Boston Pops features an "Irish Suite" by the American composer Leroy Anderson on KOMO at 7. "One Touch of Venice" is offered on the "Railroad Hour" with Ginny Shamus and Gower MacRae, at 8.30, over KOMO and the "Telephone Hour" has Marion
Anderson, contralto, in a group of spirituals, over KOMO.

THE last word in upholstery is what you get when HANLEY does the job! Colorful, durable fabrics; beautiful, washable plastics; non-better workmanship; way down prices. Free estimates. R. G.
Hanley, 527 Fort. Garden 1813.

This Is Strictly Personal

To You

Times Are Changing

So Are Conditions

What did you sell several years ago may not suit your requirements today—what are you doing about it? In many cases it is better to exchange than to have a very little cash involved. Do you want action? Here are a few examples:

Coffee Shop, confectionery, with modern living quarters for business. Bungalow for revenue property.

Waterfront property, 2 1/2 acres, four-mile radius with bungalow for revenue property.

Bowling Alley for apartment house.

Oil-O-Matic Heating

This insulated stucco bungalow is not an ordinary run-of-the-mill type, the steeply pitched gabled roof lends character and it is just old enough to have acquired that home atmosphere. The floor plan is most pleasing, having both the 22-foot living room and dining room at the front, separated by a bay window. A twin-sized bedroom with double closets and an average size which could double as a den. The four-piece Pembroke bathroom has built-in linen drawers. Electric cabinet kitchen with dining nook. Oak floors in good condition. Full, high ceiling basement, heat piped to all rooms, laundry, fireplace, garage, and open. New plumbing, cabinet kitchen and modern kitchen stove. Payments $35 per month. Full price, only $11,900.

May Propose Policy Probe

MacArthur To Address Both Houses Thursday

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Senate Republicans today unanimously endorsed a proposal for a sweeping Congressional investigation of Truman administration foreign and military policies.

Chairman Eugene Millikin of Colorado, said 33 Republican Senators agreed in a close conference to back a resolution to be drafted by the party policy committee, which probably will propose a two-house inquiry.

The House of Representatives agreed unanimously today to a joint meeting with the Senate on Thursday to hear Gen. MacArthur, deposed Far Eastern commander.

MacArthur, meanwhile, was in Honolulu today, en route to a reception-studded welcome in San Francisco.

He left Japan amid a great tribute from the Japanese people he ruled and Allied forces he commanded. Shortly after, Lt. Gen. Matthew Ridgway took over MacArthur's old office.

When he faces the joint meeting Thursday, MacArthur is expected to tell his ideas—"in general," as he put it—about how to defeat communism in Asia.

DRAMATIC CONVERSATION

Five hours after MacArthur left Tokyo he had a dramatic five-hour discussion of the proposed Japanese peace treaty with John Foster Dulles, special State Department adviser.

Dulles was flying to Tokyo to reassure the Japanese people that MacArthur's departure would not affect the proposed pact.

When he set foot on U.S. soil for the first time in 14 years at Honolulu's Hickam Field today, the general was greeted by a cheering crowd of service personnel on hand to greet him.

After 24 hours in Hawaii the General will leave for the mainland where his homecoming will be heralded by big and noisy welcome tributes in many communities across the United States.

Non-Confidence Motions Placed Before Commons

Opposition Men Budget Critics

OTTAWA (CP)—Two Opposition motions for non-confidence in the government, criticizing the 1951-52 budget, were introduced in the Commons today.

M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader, moved a motion criticizing the government for its "failure" to exempt from the proposed 20-per-cent defence tax the incomes of single persons earning up to $1,500 a year and those of married persons earning up to $3,000.

It was appended to a motion introduced by J. M. Macdonnell (P.C., Toronto-Greenwood), Progressive Conservative financial critic. His motion read:

"The proposals of the Minister of Finance are unsatisfactory because they will inevitably increase the cost of living for all and especially for those least able to bear it.

"This House condemns in particular, as inflationary the increase by 25 per cent of the general sales tax and is of the opinion that the increase is unnecessary and unwise.

"This House further condemns the heavy increase in excise taxes on certain essential commodities and is of the opinion that much of the government's proposed huge increase in taxation is due to its own extravagance.

"This House regrets the failure of the government to take effective steps to deal with profiteering."

L.P.P. Protests Increased Cost Of H.I.S.

Spearhead of Labor-Progressive Party delegation protesting hospital insurance increase were three women and six men suitably garbed as hospital patients. Petition they presented to government said, in brief: "Withdraw the increased premiums or go to the electorate." They claim half B.C.'s voters back petition.

FINAL BULLETINS

Mother Committed For Trial

DUNCAN—Mrs. Rose Ellen Cole, alias Mrs. Rose Ellen Hill, common-law wife of William Hill, Port Renfrew bridge foreman, was committed for trial on a charge of causing grievous bodily harm to her 3½-year-old daughter, June Elizabeth Hill, when the preliminary hearing wound up at Duncan police court today.

Konkin Innocent In Stabbing Case

Found not guilty by an Assize Court jury this afternoon of stabbing John Novak, 70, with intent to murder, Anton Konkin walked out of the courthouse with his daughter, Eleanor.

Konkin's daughter cried with joy when the jury acquitted the Russian-born house builder. The jury was out for an hour. (Earlier Story Page 13)

Nickel Sales Restricted

OTTAWA (CP)—The Defence Production Department today banned sales of nickel without government permit.

The ban goes into effect May 1.

It means that no person can buy or sell this essential defence metal, without an order of the metals administrator, F. V. C. Hewett.

Advance Closed Season To Head Off Fire Threat

For the first time in the memory of B.C. Forest Service officials, start of the fire season will be advanced 12 days from May 1 to one minute past midnight on April 18; it was under- stood here today.

The new ruling will cover only the Vancouver Forest District, which includes all of Vancouver Island and the Lower Mainland.

The month-long dry spell was blamed for an outbreak of blazes in the Saanich and Sooke areas, and at Paldi, Hillbank and Shawanigan Lake.

All the fires were under control early today, it was announced, with little damage to timber. Slash areas were burned over, for the most part.

Union Official Argues Against Rehearing

Jack Stanton, representative of the Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers' Union, this afternoon went before the B.C. Labor Relations Board and argued that there was nothing to justify a rehearing of the jurisdictional dispute between the M.M.S.W.U. and the C.I.O.'s United Steelworkers of America.

Stanton spoke following a submission by T. G. Norris, K.C., counsel for the U.S.W. of A., who had argued that the Labor Relations Board had erred in its judgment of May 6, 1950, when it upheld certification of the M.M.S.W.U. as bargaining agency for employees of Consolidated Mining and Smelting Co. at Trail, B.C.

Mr. Stanton argued that evidence submitted as "new and vital" by Mr. Norris was actually "old stuff."

SHOULD RECONSIDER

Mr. Norris had argued that the board should reconsider its decision and allow workers at the big Trail smelter to vote as to which of the two unions they wished to belong.

The fight between the two unions for certification rights at Trail is a long-standing dispute which arose when the C.I.O. expelled the M.M.S.W.U. from its ranks because of alleged Communist leadership. (Earlier story, Page 13.)

City Budget Ready By Next Meeting

The complete 1951 budget must be ready for presentation to the City Council at its next meeting April 24. Mayor Percy George today advised chairman of all standing committees.

"I therefore request that all speed be made in closing committee budgets in order to make them available to the municipal manager," he said.

Legislative Committee To Check Bed Shortage

Charges in Vancouver that a pregnant woman in need of emergency treatment was refused admittance to hospital are to be investigated under the Public Inquiries Act.

Premier Byron Johnson and Health Minister Douglas Turnbull said in a joint announcement today that in view of the seriousness of the case as reported, it was felt a full inquiry should be made.

It was charged in a Vancouver newspaper last week that 18-year-old Mrs. Donald Ritchie lost her unborn child because hospitals were unable to give her a bed.

The story was brought to the attention of the Legislature by Saanich M.L.A., Arthur Ash, who asked that all details of the case be made available.

In their joint announcement made following a meeting of the cabinet this morning, Mr. Johnson and Mr. Turnbull stated:

"There has been considerable publicity in the newspapers in regard to the case. A select committee of the Legislature will investigate the question of bed shortages in hospitals generally. But in view of the allegations contained in the newspapers, the government feels that this particular matter should be the subject of an inquiry under the Public Inquiries Act so that all the facts surrounding the case and the publicity concerning same may be made available to the people."

Allies Enter Yachon Nootka Shells Enemy Village

TOKYO (AP)—Allied troops smashed today into Yachon, nine miles deep in Communist Korea, and hammered out limited gains along the rest of the 150-mile North Korean battle line.

Communist resistance ranged from light to bitter.

Yachon is three miles northeast of Yanggu, the Red supply base captured Sunday on the east-central front.

About 50 North Koreans fled from Yachon before the attack. Then they stopped and threw mortar fire back into the town.

Further east, South Korean troops occupied a high ridge north of Inje.

The Canadian destroyer Nootka shelled an enemy-occupied village and caused heavy damage in the west coast bombardment.

The village was near Changsan point southwest of Chinnampo.

In the air war, F-86 Sabre jets twice tangled with Russian-type MIG-15s Monday afternoon. In the first air battle 16 F-86s mixed with 30 MIGs. American pilots reported, 18 Sabre jets clashed with more than 15 MIGs and chased them back across the Yalu River. The Communist planes escaped damage.

Caplanos Buy Negro Catcher

Vancouver Caplanos of the Western International Baseball League today announced purchase of negro catcher John Ritchey, 25, from Portland Beavers of the Pacific Coast League. Ritchey will be the first negro to wear a Caplano uniform, a Canadian Press report said.

Ritchey, who was originally scheduled to join the Victoria Athletics, wouldn't report, according to business manager Reg Patterson.

The A's business head also revealed that the local team left Santa Rosa today with 20 players on hand, including manager Dick Barrett.

Bags Five Cougars In Single Day

PORT ALBERNI (CP)—Harry (Cougar) Brown, Alberni Valley hunter, had a big day Saturday. He bagged five cougars to bring his total kill to 200 in the last 44 years. He has killed 80 since 1936.

KEFAUVER TALKS

Costello Gamblers' 'Elder Statesman'

WASHINGTON (UP)—Chairman Estes Kefauver of the Senate Crime Committee today named Frank Costello as the "elder statesman" of the nation's racketeers and gamblers.

The Tennessee Democrat said Costello is probably the one man whom racketeers and gamblers "all over the country look up to most."

"I don't think there is any man who is the nation-wide boss," Kefauver said. "There are several major gangs in the country who are able to operate without one stepping on the toes of another."

He said in a copyrighted interview with the magazine U.S. News and World Report that the gangs work out agreements with each other to divide up control of various territories. When jurisdictional disputes crop up, Kefauver said, the gangs may call in Costello "to reconcile their differences."

"He (Costello) is in the position of the elder statesman."

Kefauver's views, in substantial measure, already have been
